IAAF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

MESSAGE DU PRESIDENT DE L'IAAF

Which part of the world has the best team of men and women athletes in track and field ? It is a question which will be answered after two days of action at the magnificent Poljud stadium in Split. What was the IAAF World Cup for 29 years is now the IAAF/VTB Bank Continental Cup. Before, we had a clash of a varying mix of national and continental squads. Now, the athletics world has been divided into four – the Americas, Africa, Asia/Pacific and Europe – with two (or three) to score per team and each from a different country. There will be more space to include the world's best athletes. So for instance in the distance events there will be room for Ethiopia versus Kenya as well as Africa against the rest of the world.

The ever-growing placing tables at World Championships confirm that there is high class athletic talent from all around the world. The simple format of the Continental Cup reflects that in this special year when our members are encouraged to stage their area championships. The best of the best will have been selected to battle for points in Split on the 20th anniversary of what was a superb European Championships in that city. A lot has changed in the world of athletics since then, let alone 1977 when the first World Cup in Düsseldorf took place. Thank goodness we have the Association of Track and Field Statisticians to help us keep track of developments. As ever I am grateful for their work which has made this book possible.

Lamine Diack, July 2010

Quelle région du monde dispose de la meilleure équipe d'athlétisme masculine et féminine ? La réponse à cette question sera connue à l'issue des deux jours de compétition au sein du magnifique stade Poljud de Split. Ce qui fut la Coupe du Monde de l'IAAF pendant 29 ans est aujourd'hui devenue la Coupe Continentale de l'IAAF/VTB Bank. La composition actuelle est plus compréhensible et présente une meilleure répartition équipes nationales et continentales. Dorénavant, le monde de l'athlétisme est partagé en quatre : les Amériques, l'Afrique, l'Europe et l'Asie-Pacifique – deux athlètes (ou trois) par pays différent et par équipe continentale marqueront des points.

Cela se traduit par davantage de place pour intégrer les meilleurs athlètes du monde. Ainsi par exemple, dans les épreuves de fond, il y aura la possibilité de voir s'affronter l'Éthiopie et le Kenya mais également l'Afrique contre le reste du monde. Les tableaux des finalistes des Championnats du monde qui ne cessent de s'allonger sont l'indicateur le plus sûr de l'émergence de nouveaux talents au plus haut niveau, venus des quatre coins du monde. Le format simplifié de la Coupe Continentale reflète ces changements en cette année particulière où nos membres sont encouragés à organiser leurs propres Championnats continentaux. Les meilleurs d'entre les meilleurs seront sélectionnés pour ces confrontations directes dans le but d'obtenir le plus grand nombre de points à Split. La ville célèbre cette année le 20ème Anniversaire des superbes Championnats d'Europe qu'elle avait accueillis en 1990. Le monde de l'athlétisme a beaucoup changé depuis lors, à fortiori depuis la première Coupe du monde à Düsseldorf en 1977 ! Grâce aux précieux services de l'Association des Statisticiens d'Athlétisme, nous avons été en mesure de suivre l'évolution des compétitions au plus près. Comme toujours, je leur témoigne ma gratitude pour leur travail qui a permis la réalisation de cet ouvrage.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This book looks back at the 29-year history of the IAAF World Cup which now of course has been replaced with the IAAF Continental Cup. We have wrapped up the results of the 10 editions of the Cup and shown how the power has shifted in that tournament. Included are the leading results from the European Cup and European Team Championships as well as reports and full results from the World Cup, from Düsseldorf 1977 to Athens 2006. These have been fully revised in accordance with subsequent doping violations. In the second half of the book there is an updated index of every competitor and an account of every point scored in the tournament.

I would like to thank the IAAF and both Tomas Magnusson and Peter Matthews for their huge contribution with this project, and also Mirko Jalava and Peter Larsson whose wonderful websites have made life so much easier for those of us who seek to put on record the sort of details required for a book of this nature. Finally thanks to Christian Lenk for his help in checking various details.

South Africa

Performances by South African athletes in the period between the Republic's suspension from the IAAF (July 1976) and admission as a provisional member (May 1992) are marked with the symbol "†"

Athlete's Names

In this book, we have attempted to use the most understandable, recognisable and pronounceable versions of athlete's names, in accordance with the policy of the ATFS. In general, we strive to use the names the athletes actually want, which may well not agree with those given on entry forms and/or passports. So I am now showing Yelena Isinbaeva as that is what she has told us, and is as shown on her website. With Belorussian and Ukrainian names we have used generally Russian transliterations. Therefore we show Andrey Kravchenko, not Andrei Krauchanka, and Sergey Bubka rather than Serhiy Bubka etc.

City Names

In keeping with ATFS policy, native spelling is used for the names of cities given in lists in this book. In text, the English (or French) version of the name is used.

IAAF WORLD CUP RECORDS

It is the policy of the IAAF to recognise "an IAAF World Cup Record" as the best performance achieved at a championship which conforms to all criteria for World Records (IAAF Rule 148) except that there is no obligatory doping control test. Therefore, wind-assisted marks (see IAAF rules 148.9f and 148.12) should not be regarded as meeting records.

MOST INDIVIDUAL POINTS SCORED OVERALL

---

The totals given represent actual points scored. For example, first place in 1977, 1981, 1989, 2002 or 2006 was worth nine points as opposed to eight at the other editions of the World Cup. Relay points are not included

CONTINENTAL SCORING TRENDS

---

Dividing all points scored at past World Cups into the four continental groupings present at the IAAF Continental Cup gives the following percentages. Africa is of course disadvantaged as only one team has ever represented that continent, whereas the Americas, Asia/Pacific and Europe have always had at least two teams in the World Cup tournament. In the case of Europe there were always at least three teams and four in 1981, 1989, 2002 and 2006 when the host nation also supplied an additional team. Yet in the last two World Cups Europe's percentages have been at their lowest.

 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1
 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2 (men, GBR not scoring)
 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 (women)

Britain's men's team were disqualified from the 2002 World Cup because their entry for the meeting had been based on performances by Dwain Chambers at that year's European Cup which were subsequently annulled because of a doping violation. However, the individual placings by British team members in Madrid were allowed to stand, though are regarded by the IAAF as non-scoring. The team would have scored 83 points for seventh place in the tournament, excluding the five originally scored by Chambers in the 100m. So points of nine down to two are awarded to the eight men's teams competing in 2002 apart from Britain.

INDIVIDUAL RESULTS FROM PAST IAAF WORLD CUPS

IAAF WORLD CUP IN ATHLETICS

1. Düsseldorf, Germany .....2-4 Sep 77
2. Montréal, Canada .....24-26 Aug 79
3. Rome (Roma), Italy .....4-6 Sep 81
4. Canberra, Australia .....4-6 Oct 85
5. Barcelona, Spain .....8-10 Sep 89
6. Havana (La Habana), Cuba .....25-27 Sep 92
7. London, Great Britain & NI .....9-11 Sep 94
8. Johannesburg, South Africa .....11-13 Sep 98
9. Madrid, Spain .....21/21 Sep 02
10. Athina (Athens), Greece .....16/17 Sep 06

For each event, the following data is given:

Results and report from each World Cup event

Leading point scorers:

The leading three or so individual point scorers

Three or more appearances:

Athletes to have made three or more World Cup appearances

Team placings & actual points scored:

A table of placings by teams along with the points scored

Totals of points scored given in the sections above are computed on the basis of the following scoring systems:

1977	9-7-6-5-4-3-2-1
1979/1985/1992/1994/1998	8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1
1981/1989/2002 (women) / 2006	9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1
2002 (men)	9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2

Britain's men qualified for the 2002 World Cup on the basis of performances by Dwain Chambers at the 2002 European Cup which were subsequently annulled because of a doping violation. Therefore, the IAAF have regarded the British men's performances in the tournament as non-scoring though their individual placings (apart from Chambers's) still stand. Those finishing behind the non-scoring Britons gained a bonus point for their place. So for example, Walter Davis (USA) – second to Jonathan Edwards in the Madrid triple jump – receives nine points and Edward's performance scores nothing.

Rule numbers (r) are given in the event of disqualifications at the 1994 World Cup and later (from when rule numbers were first published on results sheets). These are:

- 40.8 – Prior doping violation leading to suspension during the period of the championships
- 168.7 – Illegal hurdle clearance or deliberately knocking down hurdle
- 170.8 – Outgoing runner in 4x400m relay begins running outside take-over zone; second runner in 4x400m relay breaks from lane too early
- 170.14 – Baton not passed within take-over zone; gloves or substances worn to give a better grip of the baton

MEN

100 Metres Düsseldorf 1977

(Sep 2) (Wind: -0.3)

1,	Steve Williams	USA		10.13
2,	Eugen Ray	GDR		10.15
3,	Silvio Leonard	AME	CUB	10.19
4,	Pietro Mennea	EUR	ITA	10.37
5,	Werner Bastians	FRG		10.57
6,	Suchart Chairsuvaparb	ASI	THA	10.67
7,	Amadou Meité	AFR	CIV	10.70
8,	Paul Narracott	OCE	AUS	10.71

Williams and Ray – both of whom missed the 1976 Olympic Games because of injury – were drawn next to each other in lanes 1 and 2. Ray had the better start and was almost a metre in front at halfway, before the taller American drew level and dipped to victory.

The heavily-built East German thought he had won, and indeed was surrounded by photographers after the finish while Williams was initially ignored.

Montréal 1979

(Aug 24) (-0.4)

1,	James Sanford	USA		10.17
2,	Silvio Leonard	AME	CUB	10.26
3,	Marian Woronin	EUR	POL	10.28
4,	Olaf Prenzler	GDR		10.33
5,	Ernest Obeng	AFR	GHA	10.36
6,	Richard James	OCE	AUS	10.49
7,	Suchart Chairsuvaparb	ASI	THA	10.51
8,	Nikolay Kolesnikov	URS		11.47

The world's top sprinter of 1979 was Sanford, who topped the world lists with 10.07 and won the IAAF Golden Sprints in Zürich. In Montréal, he was nursing an injury which would cause him to withdraw from the 200m and sprint relay, but it did not seem to affect him in the 100m, which he won with a mid-race surge.

Rome 1981

(Sep 4) (0.2)

1,	Allan Wells	EUR	GBR	10.20
2,	Ernest Obeng	AFR	GHA	10.21
3,	Frank Emmelmann	GDR		10.31
4,	Nikolay Sidorov	URS		10.41
5,	Colin Bradford	AME	JAM	10.44
6,	Pierfrancesco Pavoni	ITA		10.51
7,	Gerrard Keating	OCE	AUS	10.70
8,	Suchart Chairsuvaparb	ASI	THA	10.73
9,	Carl Lewis	USA		10.96

A major story was the poor form of the new United States star Carl Lewis, who had produced a winning long jump just 25 minutes earlier. The American, who clocked 10.00 earlier in 1981, was lying 4th at halfway before giving up. "I just couldn't accelerate," he revealed.

As Lewis's demise registered, it became clear that Obeng was possibly on the way to an upset win. After a brilliant start he was 2m up on Olympic Champion Wells. The Briton just managed to lunge in front to win by 0.01 from the Ghanaian.

Canberra 1985

(Oct 4) (-0.4)

1,	Ben Johnson	AME	CAN	10.00
2,	Chidi Imoh	AFR	NGR	10.11
3,	Frank Emmelmann	GDR		10.17
4,	Kirk Baptiste	USA		10.17
5,	Gerrard Keating	OCE	AUS	10.22
6,	Nikolay Yushmanov	URS		10.26
7,	Marian Woronin	EUR	POL	10.45
8,	Zheng Cheng	ASI	CHN	10.48

Ben Johnson had been winning big races all year, starting with the IAAF World Indoor 60m in Paris. He saved his best outdoor race for Canberra and capitalised on a fast start to win by 2m. His winning time was then the quickest ever into a headwind, but it should be noted that Johnson has since admitted to doping violations at the time of his Canberra win, so his performance should not be regarded as legitimate.

Barcelona 1989*(Sep 8) (0.5)

1,	Linford Christie	GBR		10.10
2,	Leroy Burrell	USA		10.15
3,	Daniel Sangouma	EUR	FRA	10.17
4,	Olapade Adeniken	AFR	NGR	10.20

6,	Sven Matthes	GDR		10.41
7,	Javier Arques	ESP		10.48
8,	Mardi Lestari	ASI	INA	10.48
9,	Joel Isasi	AME	CUB	10.52

On a rainsoaked track, the big favourite was Burrell, who had a year's best of 9.94 and was the overall IAAF Grand Prix winner. The American, however, was past his best for the season whereas Christie – the British team captain – produced his best race of the year for a comfortable win. His time was the quickest by a European in 1989.

Christie, now 32, had developed into the world's best sprinter since the previous World Cup with gold medals at the Commonwealth Games, European Championships, and Olympic Games. He got a great start and was never headed in a repeat of his win of 1989.

There was a murmur of concern halfway through the race, when it looked as if Christie (lane 8) might not be able to recover from a stumble at the start. Adeniken and da Silva were ahead at halfway, but could not respond to Christie's trademark finish. He scored his third World Cup win. Interestingly, the first two men, the winning time and even the headwind were the same as in 1992.

7,	Marc Blume	GER		10.30	-
8,	Zhou Wei	ASI	CHN	10.37	0.182

The 1748m altitude of Johannesburg made up for the headwind, cold (14°) and damp as Obadele Thompson raced to the 8th-quickest time ever, 9.87. Behind him came an Oceanian record by Shirvington and personal bests by Ogunkoya, Chambers and Papadiás. In lane 2 Ogunkoya – surprise winner in Zürich the previous month – was in control before Thompson (lane 5) forged ahead for victory.

One week before Madrid at the IAAF Grand Prix Final in Paris, Tim Montgomery had apparently broken the world record with 9.78 from Dwain Chambers 9.87. In theory the World Cup should have seen a rematch, but Montgomery withdrew (reportedly because of swollen feet and ankles), while Chambers was past his peak for the season. In any case, both of those Paris performances were subsequently annulled due to doping violations and it was the rightful winner at the Grand Prix Final – Drummond – who got the best start in Madrid and led for most of the race. The American was caught by Emedolu and Collins who crossed the line together, the verdict going to the African.

Chambers finished fifth but his 2002 performances were all annulled after he admitted in 2005 to doping violations throughout that season. Therefore all of the other British men's team performances in Madrid were declared non-scoring because their qualification for the event was based on the discredited wins by Chambers at the European Cup earlier in the summer.

Athína 2006*(Sep 16) (1.1)

8,	Patrick Johnson	OCE	AUS	10.28	0.143
9,	Anastásios Goúsis	GRE		10.34	0.154

This was the year Asafa Powell set two world records and won 22 out of 23 races, but he was absent from the Athens 100m and it was Gay who solidified his position as world number two. After a false start by Obikwelu, Burns was prominent when the race got going. Gay then dramatically pulled clear in the second 50m to clock a time in the 9.8s when no-one else was under 10.

Lattany, a 22 year-old American whose trademark was thick white wristbands, had become one of the the world's best since his fifth place in Montréal. The 100m winner Wells (lane 6) held the American (lane 4) on the bend but could do nothing in response to Lattany's second 100m, which was timed in 9.71. "Mel Lattany finally has that champion's belt on and nobody can take it away from him," said the winner.

7,	Simon Kipkemboi	AFR	KEN	21.50
	Kirk Baptiste	USA		DQ (20.38)

Emmelmann led into the straight but was caught by both Baptiste (lane 1) and da Silva. The American – silver medallist at the Olympic Games of 1984 – crossed the line first but was automatically disqualified for taking several strides outside his lane at the start of the straight. A protest on behalf of Baptiste, who would have gained no advantage by his action, was rejected. His loss was da Silva's gain, as the unheralded Brazilian improved his best by 0.27.

An interesting element of the World Cup is that lanes are pre-ordained with no regard to merit. Therefore Regis, who clocked 19.87 earlier in the summer, found himself in the difficult inside lane.

Linford Christie advised Regis – a former World Indoor Champion – to run as if he was indoors. This he did with a blistering bend, and he held on to win ahead of World Champion Fredericks.

One wonders what Fredericks might have achieved in good conditions. As it was, in temperatures of 7°C and on a puddle-strewn track, the Namibian broke 20 seconds after demolishing the rest of the field in the homestraight.

The 1998 winner Fredericks (lane 7) was favourite to retain his title but he could not get clear of another African who was representing Europe. Obikwelu – a Nigerian who transferred to Portugal – outdipped Fredericks on the line. It was the Namibian's only defeat at 200m in 2002. In between the two principals, Devonish (lane 8) claimed third spot.

Bolt (lane 5) ran a wonderful bend to lead clearly, but then from lane 9 Spearmon edged in front as the Jamaican (20) showed his inexperience by looking across in the closing stages of the race. The American's time of 19.87 was 0.01 quicker than the personal best he had set the previous weekend at the World Athletics Final.

Original race (Sep 3): 1, Beck 45.79; 2, Podlas 45.80; 3, Juantorena 45.83; 4, Taylor 46.24; 5, Hofmeister 46.48; 6, Imadiyi 46.54; 7, Mitchell 46.71; 8, Pradhu 48.29

The day after his epic 800m win, Juantorena was at the centre of controversy when, shockingly, he was beaten into third place in the one-lap event. Drawn in lane 8, he protested that he had not heard the starting gun because of the noise of an aeroplane and cameras. He did not begin to run until his opponents were into their stride. The Cuban clocked only 12.8 for the first 100m then ran the last 300m in 33.1, just failing to catch Beck and Podlas.

Juantorena's protest was upheld, and it was decided to re-run the race on the following morning. The Cuban started slowly but moved in front in the home-straight to win by half a metre from Beck. The East German, who said the decision to re-run the race was "a scandal", broke the GDR record and was closing on Juantorena at the finish.

9,	Takeyuki Isobe	ASI	JPN	47.71

Wiley, who ran the third leg on the USA's world record 4x100m squad in the 1977 World Cup, ran a breathtaking first 300m (31.9) to build up a 5m lead over one of the strongest fields of the meeting. He slowed, but not by enough to be caught by the chasing pack which was led by Zuliani. He clipped the Italian record and pipped Cameron. The Jamaican was convinced that he had finished second and refused to shake hands with Zuliani at the awards ceremony.

The most exciting race of the Canberra World Cup was marked by a fast start by the crowd's favourite, Clark, who flashed through 200m in 21.1. Franks stayed with the pace and surged clear in the homestraight. His winning time was the best ever run outside the Americas, and he became the fourth-quickest man ever at low altitude.

Hernández, who had clocked a hand-timed 44.3 in the 1989 Americas Cup, started quickly and finished well to win his second major title within the space of 11 days – he took the World Student Games gold medal the previous month.

Since placing an unnoticed fifth in the Barcelona World Cup, Pettigrew had become World Champion in 1991. In London he scored his biggest victory since that world title, defeating the newly-crowned European Champion, Ladejo.

Johannesburg 1998

(Sep 12)

1,	Iwan Thomas	GBR		45.33

7,	Patrick Dwyer	OCE	AUS	46.99
8,	Stefan Letzelter	GER		47.12

Coming off the final bend, McIntosh led narrowly from Thomas, Chukwu and Young with all four men in adjacent lanes. As Chukwu faded it was Thomas – the newly-crowned European Champion – who gradually reeled in McIntosh while holding off Young.

"That was the toughest race of the year," concluded the winner. "45.3? Hell, it felt like 42.3."

Madrid 2002

8,	Zsolt Szeglet	EUR	HUN	46.26
	Alvin Harrison	USA		DQ (r40.8) (45.46)

The times were fast despite a very wet track. Harrison and Schultz went off quickest and the American led into the straight before fading drastically. New Commonwealth Games Champion Blackwood then forged ahead with Schultz also finishing strongly from lane two. Harrison (originally fifth) was one of a series of retrospective drug disqualifyees at this meeting.

Mark Richardson's "lane 1" world record of 44.37 from 1998 was threatened in a great race between the two principals, Merritt (lane 1) and Kikaya (lane 2). The African had finished ahead of the American in Stuttgart the previous week (44.10 to 44.14), but this time the American came out on top. Régas produced a storming finish to overtake Francique and make a shocking improvement from 45.60 to a Greek record of 45.11.

7,	Olaf Beyer	GDR		1:46.59
8,	Sri Ram Singh	ASI	IND	1:47.28

This was a thrilling confrontation which must be regarded as one of the most exciting ever races at an IAAF event. As a result of the African boycott of the 1976 Olympic Games, athletics had been deprived of the clash between Juantorena and Boit. The two had finally faced one another at Zürich's Weltklasse a month before the World Cup, with the Cuban winning, 1:43.64 to 1:44.64. Düsseldorf proved to be much closer.

Asian record holder Sri Ram Singh led at the break from lanes and took the field through 400m in 52.31. Juantorena, shadowed by Boit, followed in 52.5. At the top of the backstraight, the Cuban moved ahead, pursued by the Kenyan and Wülbeck. At 600m (1:18.9), Juantorena led by 3m. Boit gradually reduced the gap around the last bend before trying to draw ahead in the homestraight. Juantorena anxiously looked over his shoulder for Boit. Neither man faded as the Cuban just kept in front of the Kenyan's challenge for the entire length of the finishing straight.

"It was really a great race," said Juantorena. "Mike Boit was as tough as I had expected."

Robinson led the tightly-bunched field at the bell (55.4). Some 180m later, the race turned into a burn-up between him, Maina and the two Germans. A 24.2 final 200m by Maina proved too quick for the other three.

Rome 1981

7,	Carlo Grippio	ITA		1:47.79
8,	Nikolay Kirov	URS		1:48.15
9,	Abraham Rajan	ASI	IND	1:53.21

Coe's winning time was slow in comparison with his recent world record of 1:41.73, but his win was hugely impressive. Coe's wide margin of victory was accumulated only in the last 100m, when he glided away from the opposition after having taken over the lead at 500m. Only Wagenknecht, at 600m, attempted to challenge the Briton. Robinson was runner-up for the second successive World Cup.

Koskei, the third fastest man in history (1:42.28), took responsibility for a pace (51.20 at the bell) which he knew would suit him best. His plan worked perfectly, and he was moving still further ahead of the others at the finish.

7,	Ari Suhonen	EUR	FIN	1:47.45
8,	Tomás de Teresa	ESP		1:47.94
9,	Isidro del Prado	ASI	PHI	1:53.83

Episodes of bad luck in Rome 1987 and Seoul 1988 left Tom McKean with a reputation for performing badly at big events. He made amends by winning a close, fast race from Herold and Kiprotich. The three battled it out down the homestraight, but the Scotsman was always in control.

Havana 1992

(Sep 25)

1,	David Sharpe	GBR		1:46.06
2,	William Tanui	AFR	KEN	1:46.14

7,	Dean Kenneally	OCE	AUS	1:48.32
8,	Terril Davis	USA		1:48.50

Tanui looked set to add a World Cup win to his Olympic title. The early pace was reasonable (52.0 at 400m) and Tanui led into the straight, pursued by IAAF Grand Prix Final winner Benvenuti. Then Sharpe, who had failed to make the British Olympic team, produced a spectacular final 100m to overhaul all of his better-known opponents.

London 1994

7,	José Luiz Barbosa	AME	BRA	1:48.26
8,	Kim Yong-Hwan	ASI	KOR	1:51.88

The 1994 World Cup was a dismal meeting for the United States, but one bright spot came with Everett's win at 800m. He moved to the front before the bell (52.01) and pulled away to win easily from Olympic Champion Tanui.

Johannesburg 1998

6,	Andy Hart	GBR		1:50.07
7,	Shaun Farrell	OCE	NZL	1:50.69
8,	Cheng Bin	ASI	CHN	1:53.11

Like Iwan Thomas in the 400m, Nils Schumann came to Johannesburg after having just won a European title in Budapest. The German took the lead at 200m and went past the bell in 53.87. Schumann was still in front as the field turned into the final straight. A queue of four men – Kimutai, Everett, Bucher and Téllez – were poised to go past the German, but Schumann stayed ahead despite a strong challenge from Everett, the 1994 winner.

8,	James McIlroy	GBR		1:48.43
	Kris McCarthy	OCE	AUS	DNF

Alberto Juantorena's 1977 cup record finally fell after a race almost as good as the Düsseldorf classic, and one which delighted the 17,272 crowd at 'La Peineta'. Dos Santos made a fast race by leading at the bell in 50.96. Saïd-Guerni moved ahead by 600m (1:17.65), tracked by local favourite Reina, who was only sixth at halfway but then ran a strong third 200m. The two slugged it out down the homestraight before the Spaniard – his hair bleached blond – went on to win in a new Spanish record.

McCarthy fell at around 420m and got up to walk off then actually crossed the line minutes after the others finished, but his performance was judged to be a "dnf".

8,	Jason Stewart	OCE	NZL	1:49.01
9,	Efthímios Papadópolous	GRE		1:49.45

This was the event where Europe effectively won the 2006 World Cup from the USA because while Robinson finished a disappointing sixth, European Champion Som ran above expectation to clinch second place by one hundredth. The effect was to put Europe two points ahead with two events remaining. The American had led at the bell (51.91) at 600m (1:18.84) before Kamal found a way through on the inside.

John Walker	OCE	NZL	DNF

Great Britain's decade of dominance in middle distance running began with this race, in which Steve Ovett proved he could win a fast race. Wessinghage, Walker (1:54.96 at 800m). The third lap was slower but in any case Ovett was always perfectly placed among the top three. Hill led into the last lap as the others gathered themselves, then Ovett burst in front just before the final bend. He killed all the opposition with the first few strides of his acceleration, so much so that Walker dropped out while in third place. Ovett was timed in 11.8 for the section between 1300m and 1400m, so it was not surprising that he had won the race by the middle of the homestraight when he was waving to the crowd. A superstar was born and Ovett would not lose at 1500m for another three years.

"When I reached the straight and looked round I was surprised to see I was 10m ahead," said the winner, who was clocked at 11.8 for the penultimate 100m.

Like the Montréal 800m, no-one wished to make the race quick and the second lap was covered in only 69.6. Boit took up the pace, and he led the pack into the homestraight where Wessinghage (25.2 last 200m) proved to be the fastest sprinter.

Maree and Boit tried to take the sting out of Ovett's finish, but the Düsseldorf winner followed their moves and coasted past on the last bend to win with a final 100m of 13.4. Walker, who did not finish in 1977, improved several places in the homestraight and outdipped Beyer for second place.

8,	Richard Potts	OCE	NZL	3:54.09

What was so special about Morceli's victory was not his time – just outside Steve Ovett's cup record – or the speed of his last lap (53.43). It was the way the peerless Algerian opened up a gap of 40m in the last 300m.

Rotich led from the start and the pace was moderate (800m: 1:59.85). Silva and Whiteman tracked the African and both made concerted bids for victory down the finishing straight, but the African held on for a narrow win. Rotich, a fireman in the Kenyan Air Force, had set a world high altitude best of 3:33.1 earlier in 1998.

8,	Hudson de Souza	AME	BRA	3:42.58
9,	Seneca Lassiter	USA		4:05.82

It was hoped that the great Hicham El Guerrouj would demonstrate that he could win in a race without pacemakers, but the Moroccan withdrew from the African team and the race ended up being paced because anyway Lassiter disgracefully set off quickly in a blatant bid to help his training partner, the world #2 Bernard Lagat.

The American sped through 400m in 53.42 and 800m in 1:50.20 before slowing to a jog. Meanwhile Lagat, Estevez and de Souza were left with a 20m lead from Baala who headed the chasing pack. The Kenyan pulled clear of the gallant Estevez on the last lap to demolish Steve Ovett's cup record.

Lassiter, who finished last, issued a statement of apology the following day, claiming that there had been no financial agreement between himself and Lagat and adding "I made a mistake that I am greatly sorry for, which will never happen again." His federation described Lassiter's actions as "grossly inappropriate in any national team competition but especially in this competition." The American has yet to compete again internationally.

The winning time was the slowest ever in a World Cup but there can have been fewer faster last laps than the 49.4 produced by Kipchirchir. Willis had led to the bell, then the Kenyan took off. The only one to respond was Heshko, whose closing lap must also have been near to 50-flat.

Like the Johannesburg 1500m, this race developed into a three-way battle between Kenya and two Europeans. Nyariki led until the final bend when European 5000m Champion Viciosa took over, only for the Spaniard to be outkicked by Baumann. "I was not so confident in the middle of the race," admitted the German. "I had to keep relaxed and believe in myself."

Nyariki was only third, meaning that Africa and Europe were level on 100 points with two events remaining.

An Oceanian man triumphed at the World Cup for the first time when Mottram won from the front. He established a fast temp (61.96 first lap) and led through kilometres of 2:35.49 and 2:34.95. At this point one felt that the African 5000m Champion Bitok was poised to move past the Melburnian, but the African fell back with two laps remaining and the Australian surged clear of García before the bell and produced a eased-off 58.48 final lap for a comprehensive victory. This was the final individual event of the Madrid World Cup.

In 2002, Mottram became the first Oceanian man to win at a World Cup. He repeated that victory in Athens defeating none other than the multi World Cross Country Champion Bekele.

The Ethiopian made it quick with an opening kilometre of 2:30.51 including a lap of 58.63. Only Mottram could stay with this pace, but Bekele then slowed and the Australian took over. The second kilometre slowed to 2:34.14, but then Mottram changed gears with 59.90 and 60.75 on laps six and seven. Surprisingly, Bekele was dropped, leaving an ecstatic Mottram to win comfortably. So comfortably that he was able to celebrate before clocking an Oceanian record.

The race came to life just after halfway, when European Cup winner Rose surged. Only the 10,000m winner Yifter and the surprising Australian Fitzsimons could live with the pace of the British runner, who continued to take the lead until the bell, by which time Liquori had bridged a 25m gap to join the leading trio.

The Ethiopian kicked with 300m to go and only the American was able to respond. Liquori closed gradually and it looked for an instant as if he would pass Yifter. But the Ethiopian pulled clear again in the straight. He ran the final 400m in 53.9 to Liquori's 53.6.

Yifter used precisely the same tactics as he had in the 10,000m two days earlier, although this time his final 300m was even quicker at 38.6. The confusion over the Ethiopian's age was not clarified in Montréal. Yifter admitted he did not know but his estimate was 36! According to a birthdate revealed later – of May 15, 1944 – he was 35 in 1979.

8,	Paul Williams	AME	CAN	14:24.21
9,	Peter Renner	OCE	NZL	14:31.67

Coghlan was a favourite but was dropped when Abramov surged at halfway. Fontanella (8:47.20 at 3000m) then took over and slowed things up, giving the Irishman a second chance. A 38.6 final 300m by Coghlan was sufficient to win from Kunze, who was to lower the European record to 13:10.40 three days later.

The field, which went through 3000m in 8:46.8, were still together when Bulti, the 10,000m winner, made a run for home with two laps remaining. Mei, Khudyakov and Padilla covered this move, and in the last lap Mei struck first. Padilla – who had recently lowered his 800m best to 1:48.30 – followed and glided past the Italian off the final bend to win. His eight points were a vital contribution to the USA's team victory of 1985.

Daniel Komen broke the world record at 5000m in 1997 but had been concentrating on short distances in 1998. Back in his main event, he scored one of the easiest wins of the weekend. Baumann tried to hold on to the Kenyan but could not live with Komen's surges and eventually finished third. At the finish, Komen spread his arms wide as if to say 'was that a race?'

Asia had their best ever World Cup result in 2006, thanks to the African athletes who had been transferred to Gulf states. The most notable of these, Qatar's Saif Saaeed Shaheen (formerly Stephen Cherono) was even the male star of meeting with victories in the steeplechase and first the 5000m. He toyed with the field, allowing Fitschen, Savvópoulos and Kigen to be in front before moving in front at 3000m (8:30.82) then running the next 200m in a snappy 27.61. He eased back after then but surged again at 4400m, clocking 55.40 for the next lap then throttling back while Kigen and Tegenkamp closed in vain in the last 200m.

A slow race, which Hermens led at 5000m (14:18.4). Shorter then took over, but the race began in earnest when European Cup winner Peter surged in the final kilometre. Only Yifter, Hermens and Uhlemann – who fell earlier in the race – remained in contact. The Ethiopian waited until the final backstraight before flying past everyone to win with a 39.7 last 300m.

United States record holder Craig Virgin tried all he could to drain the finishing strength from Yifter, and forced the Ethiopian to lead by coming to a virtual stop at 6000m. But nothing could prevent Africa (and Yifter) maintaining a 100% record in the World Cup distance races. This time his last 300m took 38.9.

The fast times were due to the pace-setting of Salazar, who led from the start and passed halfway in 13:54.22. Kedir then led for a kilometre before Salazar took over again. With four laps remaining, the six men still in contention were cooled by torrential rain. The crowd's favourite Ortis struck for home, but was overhauled by Kedir.

The Ethiopian succeeded in dropping all but European Cup winner Schildhauer (6th in 1979). The East German overtook the African in the home-straight and went on to remove more than 10 seconds from his GDR record.

Abebe and Antibo pulled away at the start of the final kilometre, only to be reeled in by Urata, Vera and Prieto by the bell. The Asian and South American each took the lead in a frantic last lap, before Antibo sprinted away.

Despite heavy rain which fell in the second half of the race, Skah only narrowly failed to set a new cup record.

Pönitzsch and Maminski were the early pacemakers but most eyes were on Scartezzini, winner at the past two European Cup Finals. He forged ahead in the last half lap but was reeled in by Maminski at the final hurdle. Both men were then dramatically passed by Marsh, who knocked Maminski as he squeezed through a gap between the Pole and Italian.

The American was quickly disqualified. Not for bumping Maminski, but for failing to clear the penultimate water jump. The American, a lawyer, claimed he had been baulked and was forced to run inside the hurdle. The television coverage missed the alleged incident and his appeal was rejected.

The biggest surprise of the weekend came when the Kenyan world record holder Barmasai was defeated by European Champion Kallabis. The German followed as Barmasai led through 1000m in 2:51.63 and 2000m in 5:41.62. With two laps to go it was Barmasai from Kallabis – who only arrived in Johannesburg the day before the race – with Al-Asmari a close third. The Saudi athlete moved into second spot at the bell, but was quickly dropped when Barmasai picked up the pace. The water jump was set inside the track, so a sharp turn was necessary and it was at this point that Kallabis slipped through into the lead. The German then sprinted clear on the run-in, leaving Barmasai with the dubious distinction of being the first Kenyan to lose a World Cup steeplechase.

African men had surprisingly lost the two long distance races in Madrid but prevailed again in the steeplechase when former world record holder Boit Kipketer overtook Martin just before the water jump. Famiglietti set the pace with 3:46.83 at 1000m and 5:39.33 at 2000m. The last lap was covered in 61.86.

World Champion Shaheen was given a much tougher race in his speciality than he had in the 5000m one day earlier. Koech was responsible for a quickening pace with kilometres of 2:58.64 and 2:47.67. Not surprisingly the two men of Kenyan origin were by themselves at the bell with Koech leading in 7:21.92. Shaheen moved ahead down the last backstraight and held on for victory though both men would have completed the last lap in less than 57.5.

On paper, Nehemiah was the big favourite, having lowered the world record twice in spring of 1979 to 13.00. However, earlier in the month in Zürich he had suffered his first defeat of the season and almost came to grief in Montréal with mistakes at the first and ninth barriers. These ensured a tight race with the winner and runner-up from 1977 – Munkelt and Casañas. A strong finish saved the world record holder. “Those last three steps were the hardest of the whole year,” said a relieved Nehemiah.

Jackson (lane 4) and Kingdom (lane 9) had a fine tussle, with the American world record holder getting the better of the Welshman by the ninth hurdle. There was disbelief when the photo-cell clock at the finish displayed 12.88, 0.04 quicker than Kingdom's world record. There had been a tailwind of 2.6, but the track was soaked after a rain-storm so fierce that the race had been delayed by half an hour. The official winning time was adjusted to 12.87, with Jackson also cracking 13 seconds.

Falk Balzer got a flier as his reaction time was recorded as 0.031, but there was no recall. The German went on to win the race in 13.10, just one hundredth ahead of Jackson, who along with García closed up drastically on Balzer. Formal protests over the start were lodged by Great Britain and the Americas, but these were rejected.

Running in the lane between Jackson and García, the USA's Torian was well-placed until he landed badly after the eight, hit the ninth and pushed over the 10th.

Olympic Champion García confirmed his status as the 2002 world #1 by winning clearly from a strong field in 13.10, the fastest ever into a headwind of 2.2. Most eyes were on the quadruple European Champion Colin Jackson, who was running his final outdoor race. After an excellent start, he hit the first hurdle and pulled up off-balance after knocking over the fourth. He rejoined the race to finish in 22.16 but was later disqualified for knocking over hurdle four with his hands. The Welsman blamed the fluctuating winds for his troubles. Rising star Liu Xiang (19) also failed to finish, pulling up at the fifth.

There were hopes of a world record by Xiu who had done just that on the same track at the Olympic Games and improved that mark to 12.88 earlier in 2006. Johnson was a late entrant for the US team, replacing Ryan Wilson. The 36 year-old got a tremendous start after a short "set" period and soon enjoyed a clear lead. Liu and Robles closed but never looked like catching Johnson, who set a world age best of 12.96. With the next three men at 13.15 or faster, this was the highest quality race of the meeting. "I'm just trying to show everybody that I'm still here," said the winner who was second in the same race 12 years earlier.

Moses lost to Schmid in his previous race at Berlin, but in Düsseldorf the American swept aside any doubts about his form with the first of a record-breaking sequence of 109 victories that would last until 1987.

He made up the stagger on European Cup winner Beck by the first hurdle, and floated away to win in the second-fastest time in history. Beck and Schmid each set national records.

Schmid had been the last man to defeat Moses, and following a European record of 47.85 by the West German earlier in August, some felt he might bring to an end the American's run of 32 consecutive victories since 1977. However, it soon became apparent that the American's only rival would be the clock. Moses (lane 4) made up the stagger on all those outside him (Schmid included) by the sixth and missed his own world mark by just 0.08.

Ed Moses was having a year off, but his title stayed with the US through Phillips. The American stumbled out of his blocks and struck the first hurdle so hard he almost lost balance and fell.

Fast-starting Schmid suffered a rare defeat by a European and filled third place, as he had eight years earlier.

Matete matched the feat of Ed Moses and scored a third successive win in this, the first men's track event of the weekend. Woody led for the first 300m before the Zambian surged ahead off the final bend. He withstood a late challenge from Al-Nubi, who set an Asian record. "I was actually running for Mandela," said Matete, "because I am proud to be from Africa." It was his 22nd final of the year.

Matete had also won the 4x400m relay in Havana 1992, and his total of four wins matched the men's record of Miruts Yifter and Linford Christie.

Carter – US Champion three months earlier – won comfortably from strong-finishing Al-Nubi who duplicated his 1998 position. World #1 Felix Sánchez controversially withdrew having been drawn to run in lane 1. In ninth place Boino of Papua new Guinea became the first non-Australian or New Zealander to compete for Oceania in an individual event.

There were two false starts in this, the final major meeting at which that occurrence would not result in automatic disqualification of the second transgressor.

The 2006 world number one Periklís Iakovákis withdrew injured on the morning of the race, and in his absence it was a close contest between Clement and van Zyl. It looked as if the American had lost the race with a poor final hurdle whereas the South African came through with a typically fast finish. But then the taller American surged again on the run in to give the US maximum points from the first track event. Keita was third at 300m, then lost two places in the homestraight.

Sotomayor was in a class of his own throughout 1994, and this was demonstrated by his huge winning margin in London – 12cm. After everyone else had been eliminated, the Cuban had first-time clearances at 2.35 and 2.40.

Johannesburg 1998

The 1994 victor Sotomayor became the highest total points scorer in a single event, but he did not win this time. There were three men in at 2.31, Sotomayor, Austin and Klyugin. The Cuban was leading on countback but the American took over with his first-time clearance while the other two failed three times. Austin's win was one of only three United States men's victories in Johannesburg. He chose not to try for a better height, not surprising in view of the temperature of just 8°C.

The rain-delayed contest was dominated by new European Champion Rybakov, who had no failures at five heights up to 2.31. The only other man in at that height was Boswell, who failed once and then went unsuccessfully for 2.33. No-one else was higher than 2.20.

The competitors had finished their warm-up and had been present-

Kozakiewicz and Tully were successful at 5.30 and 5.45. At 5.55, the Pole failed once while the Californian went over first time, as he did at 5.60 – a personal best and good for fifth on the world all-time list. Kozak failed once at 5.60 and twice at 5.65.

Montréal 1979*(Aug 25)

1,	Mike Tully	USA		5.45

6,	Axel Weber	GDR		5.00
7,	Bob Huddle	OCE	AUS	4.60
	Kaddour Rahal	AFR	ALG	NH

Tully retained his title in a competition which was hampered by swirling winds. The key height was 5.45, which Tully cleared the first time whereas Abada needed three attempts. European Cup winner Volkov only cleared his opening height.

Rome 1981*(Sep 5)

1,	Konstantin Volkov	URS		5.70
2,	Jean-Michel Bellot	EUR	FRA	5.55
3,	Billy Olson	USA		5.50
4,	Tomomi Takahashi	ASI	JPN	5.40

7,	Rubén Camino	AME	CUB	5.20
8,	Kieran McKee	OCE	NZL	4.70
9,	Mohammed Ben Saad	AFR	ALG	4.50

Volkov started badly with one failure at his opening height of 5.30. However, subsequent first-time successes at 5.45, 5.55 and 5.65 meant a clear victory for the Russian, who went on to attempt what would have been an official world record of 5.82.

Canberra 1985*(Oct 5)

1,	Sergey Bubka	URS		5.85
2,	Philippe Collet	EUR	FRA	5.60
3,	Tim Bright	USA		5.40

6,	Neil Honey	OCE	AUS	4.70
7,	Chokri Abahnini	AFR	TUN	4.50
	Rubén Camino	AME	CUB	NH

For the second World Cup in succession, a Soviet vaulter won and attempted a new world record. The fact that these attempts were made at a height 19cm higher than Volkov's target in 1981 showed the impact Bubka had made on this event in the early 80s. The Ukrainian, who had raised the world record to 6.00 in 1985, waited for two hours before entering successfully at 5.60. Only Collet could match that before going out at 5.70. Bubka went on to clear 5.85 at the second attempt before failing at 6.01.

Barcelona 1989*(Sep 9)

Collet was a controversial selection for Europe over indoor 6.00 performer Rodion Gataullin (RUS). The Frenchman justified his selection, though he took a risk by moving up to 5.75 after one failure at 5.70.

World junior fourth placer Winter no-heighted along with three other men. This meant that Britain, who were the first day leaders, scored no points whereas Africa – their closest rivals – picked up more than expected with Okkert Brits's third pace. Victory went to Potapovich, whose previous big win came in the 1986 World Juniors.

London 1994*(Sep 10)

7,	James Miller	OCE	AUS	5.20
	Neil Winter	GBR		NH

Okkert Brits had been a great disappointment at the Commonwealth Games two weeks earlier, when he no-heighted. He made amends by winning in London with a magnificent Cup, African and Commonwealth record.

At 5.70, only Brits and former World Junior Champion Jean Galfione were left in. At 5.75, Galfione made it on his third attempt while Brits passed. The Frenchman then passed at 5.80, where Brits went over first time.

Galfione went out at 5.85 leaving Brits to attempt 5.90. He went over clearly on his second try, but the crossbar came off. It was quickly announced that officials had judged the vault valid, and the television replay showed why.

A string was attached to one end of the crossbar to stop it from being blown off the uprights by the blustery conditions. Brits's discarded pole had snagged on this thread, and this, rather than any part of Brits's body, brought down the bar.

Johannesburg 1998*(Sep 12)

7,	Paul Burgess	OCE	AUS	5.20
8,	Ricardo Diez	AME	VEN	5.00

Tarasov was the world's number one in 1998 and capped his season with a second-time clearance at 5.85. Two others – Lobinger and Hartwig – were also in at that height but both failed, though after Tarasov's success the German took his third attempt, in vain, at 5.90.

Just two men went higher than 5.40. The 1994 winner Brits led up to 5.70 where both he and Hartwig failed once. Having seen the American succeed with his second try, the South African passed to 5.75. The American sat that height out and lost his advantage when Brits cleared with his second and final attempt. Neither made it over 5.80. "The wind made pole vaulting very difficult today," said the winner.

The event was disastrous for Europe. Before the start they had been in second place, one point behind Africa. With Averbukh no-heighting and Brits winning, they dropped to third and 10 points in arrears of the leaders, all hopes of the team trophy gone.

8,	Stávros Kouroupákis	GRE		5.40
9,	Dmitry Starodubtsev	RUS		5.20

A few minutes after Craig Mottram took Oceania's second ever male World Cup victory, the crew-cut Hooker scored a third. He had passed at 5.70 where only Chiaraviglio and Sawano were successful, both on their first tries. The Argentinian went out at 5.75, a height only he attempted. So at 5.80 it was Sawano versus Hooker with the Australian heading for fourth place if he did not go clear. Both men failed once, then Hooker made it. The Japanese failed twice before trying in vain for 5.90.

This was the outstanding event of the 1979 World Cup thanks to the brilliant final jump of Myricks, which was universally recognised as a low-altitude world record.

The American, who broke a bone in his foot while warming up for the Olympic final at the same stadium in 1976, led after the first round with 8.12. By the third round, he was down to third spot behind the 8.22 of Giralt and 8.17 by Dombrowski. The East German went ahead in the fifth with 8.27. Due to a lull in competition elsewhere in the stadium, all eyes were on Myricks as he hit the board perfectly with his last jump and hitchkicked to 8.52, second only to Bob Beamon's legendary (but altitude-assisted) world record of 8.90.

Myricks did not realise what he had done until someone in the stands shouted out to him the distance in feet and inches.

Despite winning, Carl Lewis made a unmemorable start to his career at IAAF events. Wishing to concentrate on the 100m later in the evening, he was hoping to win with his first jump. Instead, he failed to hit the take-off board and ran through, registering 5.93. He retired after a second jump of 8.15. This proved enough to win, but only just, as Honey set Australian records of 8.11 in both the fourth and sixth rounds.

7,	Kofi Amoah Prah	GER		7.75	(-)
8,	Steve Phillips	GBR		7.66	(-0.2)

Pedroso started in style with 8.37 on his first jump, which featured a very accurate take-off. This gave the Cuban a huge lead from Taurima's 8.10 at halfway, but the Australian closed the gap considerably with an Oceanian record of 8.32 in the fifth, to which Pedroso responded with 8.28. The two leaders each fouled or passed in the final two rounds, which saw a new Egyptian record by Mersal of 8.26.

8,	Tim Parravicini	OCE	AUS	7.69	(1.0)
9,	Andreas Pohle	GER		7.26	(1.0)

Pedroso came within one centimetre of a third World Cup win, but actually Stringfellow had much the the three best jumps in his series of 8.04, 8.20, 8.21 and 8.20. Horizontal jumpers and all throwers in Madrid had just four attempts. Biomechanical analysis showed that Lamela was the fastest jumper with a flying speed of 10.14 metres per second in his best effort of 8.11.

Saladino won it with his first jump of 8.26 which was actually 8.35 from the point of take-off. He backed that up with a much more accurate 8.21 but went even further on his last effort which was a marginal foul.

European Champion Howe improved from fifth halfway to fourth in round three (8.08), then second with his closing leap of 8.12 on which he took off 16cm before the edge of the board.

A memorable contest, in which world record holder de Oliveira gained his third World Cup win and Asia obtained its best World Cup placing thus far. Zou's 16.97 overtook Oliveira's 16.90 for the lead in the third round. In the fourth, Zou improved to 17.14, only for the Brazilian to improve to 17.37. Zou responded with 17.34, an Asian record which only five other men had ever bettered.

Meanwhile, the charismatic Banks had earned the crowd's support after an official made him to remove his personal cassette player. He also exceeded 17m to beat the Olympic Champion Uudmäe.

Another Olympic Champion, long jumper Dombrowski, placed sixth. Injury had prevented him contesting his speciality and his run-up was restricted to 12 strides. Tragedy struck de Oliveira in December 1981 when he lost a leg after the car in which he was travelling was involved in a head-on collision. He died on May 29, 1999 after suffering from problems with his lungs and liver.

Once again, it was de Oliveira versus the USSR, but this was much closer than 1977. Vakyukevich opened with 16.94 and de Oliveira came close with 16.90 in the fourth round. That was into a 1.1m/s headwind, but the wind had dropped for the Brazilian's final jump, which, after a suspenseful wait, was displayed as a winning 17.02.

Edwards, a fan of the four-round format, fouled with the opening effort of the contest but then took the lead in the second with 17.15. He improved to 17.34 in the fourth, matching exactly his winning distance from 10 years earlier. The Briton's closest challenger was not European Champion Olsson (4-4 v Edwards earlier in the year), but Davis who spanned 17.23w with his last jump. Edwards's winning leap comprised a 6.04 hop, 5.10 step and a 6.10 jump, though of course his victory ultimately counted for nothing in terms of points because of the Dwain Chambers affair.

Pole Vaulter Victor Chistiakov – who was not needed in his main event in Madrid – filled a gap in the Oceanian team to take ninth place.

The event, delayed by rain for one hour, brought together the world's best three of 1989. Timmermann, however, repeated his commanding win of 1985.

Havana 1992

(Sep 25)

1,	Mike Stulce	USA		21.34
2,	Sergey Nikolayev	EUN	RUS	20.14
3,	Werner Günthör	EUR	SUI	19.75
4,	Gert Weil	AME	CHI	19.05

6,	Ma Yongfeng	ASI	CHN	18.56
7,	Chima Ugwu	AFR	NGR	18.51
8,	Courtney Ireland	OCE	NZL	17.63

New Olympic Champion Stulce dominated the competition, and all four of his valid throws would have been good enough for victory.

London 1994

(Sep 9)

1,	C. J. Hunter	USA		19.92
2,	Aleksandr Klimenko	EUR	UKR	19.16
3,	Courtney Ireland	OCE	NZL	18.93
4,	Oliver-Sven Buder	GER		18.88

6,	Carlos Fandiño	AME	CUB	18.04
7,	Bilal Saad Mubarak	ASI	QAT	17.40
8,	Nigel Spratley	GBR		17.20

Klimenko, the newly-crowned European Champion, took the lead with his first throw of the contest but could do no better. Victory instead went to Hunter, who put 19.84 in both the second and third round before extending to 19.92 in the sixth.

Johannesburg 1998

(Sep 11)

1,	John Godina	USA		21.48
2,	Aleksandr Bagach	EUR	UKR	20.45
3,	Oliver-Sven Buder	GER		20.42
4,	Burger Lambrechts	AFR	RSA	20.29

6,	Yoger Medina	AME	VEN	19.08
7,	Justin Anlezark	OCE	AUS	18.26
8,	Bilal Saad Mubarak	ASI	QAT	18.21

Godina – one of the world's leading athletes of 1998 – had a huge winning margin of 1.03m. The American waited until the final round to spin twice and produce his longest put of 21.48, but two of his earlier throws – 20.71 and 20.82 – were better than anyone else could muster. It was Godina's 17th win out of 17 competitions in 1998 – all further than 21m – and his 23rd successive victory since 1997.

Madrid 2002

7,	Carl Myerscough	GBR		19.13
8,	Brad Snyder	AME	CAN	18.99
9,	Li Rongxiang	ASI	CHN	10.09

Nelson improved with each round and just hung on to win after Anlezark came within 3cm of the American with his final effort. Asia had no shot putter and so one point was claimed for them by Chinese javelin thrower Li Rongxiang.

Athína 2006

Sep 16)

No USA representative

The big story of the event was the non-representation of the USA. Former world record holder John Powell had been the official entry, but it transpired that he was not even in Italy, let alone Rome. This was not discovered until after the technical meeting, by which time it was impossible for the USA to name a substitute.

The competition featured a battle between Lemme, the European Cup winner, and Olympic bronze medallist Delís. Lemme took control in the fifth with 66.26 and extended this to 66.38 in the sixth. Delís fell 12cm short with his final effort.

Canberra 1985

(Oct 4)

1,	Georgiy Kolnootchenko	URS		69.08
2,	Jürgen Schult	GDR		68.30

6,	Paul Nandapi	OCE	AUS	58.84
7,	Ahmed Kamel Shata	AFR	EGY	35.74
	Li Weinan	ASI	CHN	DNS

Kolnootchenko's previous best placing at a major event was fifth at both the 1981 World Student Games and 1982 European Championships.

In Canberra, he beat a quality field with an opening throw of 69.08 (a cup record). Schult and Delís produced their best throws in the second and third rounds respectively.

Barcelona 1989*(Sep 9)

1,	Jürgen Schult	GDR		67.12
2,	Luis Delis	AME	CUB	66.72

7,	Paul Mardle	GBR		56.52
8,	Hu Tao	ASI	CHN	54.72
9,	Hassan Ahmed Hamad	AFR	EGY	52.26

The final event of the first day threatened an upset as Delis – contesting his fourth World Cup – led World and Olympic Champion Schult for three rounds. The East German clinched victory with 67.12 in the fourth, to preserve a winning streak which stretched back to July 1987.

Havana 1992*(Sep 26)

1,	Anthony Washington	USA		64.86

6,	Alexis Elizalde	AME	CUB	62.53
7,	Li Shaojie	ASI	CHN	61.37
8,	Ian Winchester	OCE	NZL	60.56

Virgilijus Alekna let from start to finish and saved his best for last. The Lithuanian opened with 68.27 and led from Riedel (66.45) at the halfway stage. The German finished well with 66.85, 67.47 and 67.18, but Alekna's corresponding responses in the advantageous windy conditions were 67.61, 63.95 then 69.66, the longest ever at a major championship or cup meeting.

It was the eighth meeting between Alekna and Riedel in 1998 and meant that Alekna finished the year as unofficial world number one, having a 5 – 3 advantage.

7,	Bob Weir	GBR		58.91
8,	Peter Elvy	OCE	AUS	56.60
9,	Koji Murofushi	ASI	JPN	41.93

New European Champion Fazekas produced the performance of the meeting with throws of 71.25 and 69.77 in rounds 2-3. These were the longest ever at a major international championship or trophy event. The winner acknowledged the wind conditions which were helpful in this event.

It was an embarrassing weekend for Asian male throwers. They failed to bring a specialist javelin or discus thrower to Madrid and here the substitute was hammer thrower Murofushi.

6, Sean Carlin	OCE AUS	74.54
7, Hakim Toumi	AFR ALG	69.38
8, Paul Head	GBR	68.38

This was a surprisingly close contest in which the Olympic Champion Abduvaliyev held off Deal, who was third in Havana and second in Barcelona.

It was Deal who took the lead with 80.16 in the first round. The Tadjiki took over with throws of 80.38 and 81.72. Deal's response was 81.14. Both men peppered the 80m line with their subsequent efforts. Weis also exceeded 80m in the final round, making this by far the best quality World Cup hammer throw.

In seventh place, the African team captain Hakim Toumi from Algeria made a record-breaking fifth World Cup appearance and scored useful points for his team by defeating the British representative.

6,	Jud Logan	USA		70.51
7,	Chris Harmse	AFR	RSA	68.34
8,	Justin McDonald	OCE	AUS	59.62

One month earlier, Tibor Gécsek became the toast of the European Championships when he won the hammer gold in front of his home crowd at Budapest. Throwing after five turns, he produced one of the greatest ever series: 80.22, 82.43, foul, 82.68 (a cup record), 81.27 and 82.39. Yet he expressed disappointment after that last throw as it was short of his recent personal best of 82.87. In second place throughout was Weis, who therefore completed a set of top World Cup placings: he was first in 1989 and third in 1994.

Madrid 2002

8,	Mick Jones	GBR		66.92
9,	Yosvany Suárez	AME	CUB	66.33

Annus won with his second-round throw of 80.92 but came under pressure when his arch-rival Murofushi registered 80.08 on the final effort of the contest. The Biomechanical analysis showed that the Japanese was the faster thrower, taking just 2.05 seconds from the start of his rotation to release on his 80.08 compared with 2.26 in Annus's best.

Murofushi's father Shigenobu was sixth in the World Cup in Montréal and Rome.

Javelin Throw

Düsseldorf 1977

(Sep 4)

1,	Michael Wessing	FRG		87.46
2,	Wolfgang Hanisch	GDR		84.28
3,	Miklós Németh	EUR	HUN	80.82
4,	Rod Ewaliko	USA		77.26
5,	Juan Jarvis	AME	CUB	77.06
6,	Mike O'Rourke	OCE	NZL	74.46
7,	Ali Memmi	AFR	TUN	70.48
8,	Mohammed Munir	ASI	PAK	69.54

The Olympic Champion Németh was troubled with a shoulder injury and could not challenge the two Germans Hanisch and Wessing. The East German opened with 84.28. This looked to be good enough for victory, though Wessing improved from 80.50 to 82.86 in the fifth. Hanisch finished well with 84.18, but the 50,000 crowd were all rooting for Wessing on his final throw. The bearded German propelled the spear out to a personal best of 87.46 to give the West German fans in Düsseldorf their best moment of the weekend.

Montréal 1979

6,	Jacques Abehi	AFR	CIV	74.94
7,	Shen Maomao	ASI	CHN	72.70
8,	Duncan Atwood	USA		71.06

Hanisch went one better than 1977, but was put under pressure by O'Rourke, who achieved the highest placing so far by an Oceanian man in the World Cup. The 1977 winner Wessing salvaged fourth place with his last throw of 81.06: his previous best was just 75.02 in the third round.

Rome 1981*(Sep 4)

1,	Danis Kula	URS		89.74

Left-handed East German Michel, who headed the 1981 world rankings at 92.48, took a commanding lead in the first round with 89.38. Olympic Champion Kula threatened with 88.50 in the third before surpassing Michel in the fifth and avenging his European Cup defeat by the East German.

Canberra 1985*(Oct 6)

1,	Uwe Hohn	GDR		96.96
2,	Heino Puuste	URS		87.40

6,	Michael Mahovlich	AME	CAN	76.14
7,	Pubu Ciren	ASI	CHN	75.46
8,	Ahmed Mahour Bacha	AFR	ALG	72.72

This was the final major contest using a specification of javelin which was to be modified on safety grounds from 1986. Hohn, whose 1984 world record of 104.80 highlighted the possible dangers of the event, had a bad start when his first throw ended up on the track. Only fourth at halfway, the East German got it right with 88.02 in the fourth, and with the very last throw of the contest produced history's fifth-longest effort – 96.96.

Barcelona 1989*(Sep 10)

9,	Enrique Bassols	ESP		64.24

Backley had established himself as the world's best with wins at the European Cup and World Student Games. His reputation for winning in round one was confirmed with a Commonwealth record of 85.90. He passed all but one of his other five attempts.

"It's the best crowd I've come across in the UK for sure," said Backley, who repeated his 1989 win with one of his best throws of the year. His victory closed Africa's lead to just five points with two events remaining.

Johannesburg 1998*(Sep 13)

1,	Steve Backley	GBR		88.71

6,	Adrian Hatcher	OCE	AUS	73.75
7,	Zhang Lianbiao	ASI	CHN	68.35
	Ed Kaminski	USA	DNS

This was the final individual event of the meeting and, like the other Johannesburg men's throws, was won with a classy performance. Steve Backley continued his unbeaten World Cup run with a meeting record of 88.71 in round two. Russia's Sergey Makarov placed second for Europe, two places ahead of the African representative, which meant that Europe led Africa 107-105 in the men's contest with just the 4x400m relay remaining.

Madrid 2002*(Sep 21)

1,	Sergey Makarov	EUR	RUS	86.44

7,	William Hamlyn-Harris	OCE	AUS	74.48
8,	Gustavo Dacal	ESP		68.26

Makarov recorded his 14th win from 15 contests in 2002, winning easily from Henry with 1989 winner Backley – Makarov's conqueror at the 2002 European Championships – only fourth. Distances were reduced by the swirling winds in the stadium.

9,	Robbie Pratt	AME	MEX	29.02

The United States men were two points behind Europeans going into this event and with just the 4x400m to come. That gap looked certain to grow in the javelin and it did to eight points following a dominating display by Thorilksden who, like Alekna and Murofushi, won in the stadium where they had taken Olympic gold two years earlier. The Norwegian's opener of 87.17 was easily enough for victory while Pienaar's second place proved useful in Africa's battle with Asia for third spot in the men's tournament. Less successful were the Americas. Embarrassingly, they could not find a javelin thrower and Mexican pole vaulter Robbie Pratt made a token effort of 29.02.

Steve Williams, fresh from his 100m victory the previous evening, completed a tremendous weekend by anchoring his team to the first ever world record at an IAAF World Cup.

Running in lane 7, Collins and Riddick did not get the best of baton passes, but each decisively outran their closest opponents, the GDR (lane 8). Wiley established a conclusive lead before handing to Williams, who stopped the clock 0.16 quicker than the USA's 1972 Olympic winning time. "It's astonishing how we understand each other in a race," reflected Williams. The GDR set a new national record in second place.

British relay teams had been in sparkling form all year, with victories in the European Cup and European Championships. In Johannesburg this seasonal experience paid off with a rare win over the United States. It was Africa who took an early lead through Ogunkoya, but they lost ground with inferior baton passing and Chambers was already in front at the start of the anchor leg. Harden stormed through for second place but never looked like catching the British team.

The apparent new world 100m record holder Tim Montgomery did not run for the USA as anticipated, which was just as well as ultimately all his marks since May 2001 were annulled because of a doping violation which came to light in 2003. Even without him the United States snipped the Cup (and former world) record with a 2002 world best of 37.95. Drummond got the team off to a fine start but the final exchange was poor. Nevertheless Miller ran a brilliant anchor to put the result beyond doubt.

The world athlete of 2006 Asafa Powell was due to run the final leg but never got going because his team failed at the second changeover between Burns and Williams. It would have taken an exceptional performance for his team to have won, because the United States left everyone far behind with the joint fifth-fastest of all-time, 37.59. That was by far the world's fastest of the year and included a brilliant third leg from Gay, only an hour or so after his victory at the individual 100m. Unusually, two of the winning team (Conwright and Smoots) repeated from four years earlier.

The USA needed to beat the GDR by at least two places to win the first World Cup trophy. Their race started well but ended in disaster. Vinson gained a slight lead which Andrews extended before passing to Edwin Moses, who was making a rare appearance at 400m flat. Moses (44.8) ran the quickest leg of all the Americans but lost ground to another hurdler, Harald Schmid (44.5). As Parks set off a stride ahead of Herrmann, the GDR were fourth. The USA could still win the cup even if they only placed second in the race. But just as he began to move away from Herrmann along the backstraight, Parks pulled his right hamstring and the USA lost everything.

Alberto Juantorena (43.7) went from sixth to third place on the final leg for the Americas team, in what was his fourth race in three days.

Darden made up for his poor run in the individual 400m by anchoring the USA to victory in the race and the overall World Cup. He had been passed by individual winner Hassan on the backstraight of the final leg. The Sudan runner covered the first half of his leg in a suicidal 20.9. The American regained the lead in the homestraight and held off Schmid until the finish.

The USA needed only fourth place to secure the World Cup, and things were going to plan when Armstead held a lead of 5m on the third leg. As the American approached Franks for the final exchange, Darren Clark and Vladimir Krylov traded shoves as they jostled for position while awaiting their own incoming runners. As a result, Krylov was pushed into the path of Armstead, who was dramatically knocked onto the infield. Franks had to run backwards to get the baton.

The Americans had dropped to fourth, and in the confusion GDR moved into the lead through individual runner-up Schönlebe. The heroic Franks closed the gap and moved into third behind the GDR and Africa on the final bend, 7m behind Schönlebe. The East German tired and Africa's Egbunike passed him with 50m left. Franks was still closing and caught the African on the line to score a famous victory. He was unofficially timed at 44.2.

In those dramatic final strides, Egbunike lost grip of the baton, causing the unlucky Africans to be disqualified. The USSR were initially disqualified after the incident at the third changeover, but were later reinstated. The US team, rather than setting off on a lap of honour, huddled around a television screen to watch the replays.

Britain could still win the 1994 World Cup if they won the race with the Africans no better than seventh. Britain won easily but, Africa, anchored superbly by Sunday Bada, were a fine second and therefore retained the Cup.

The United States' disastrous weekend reached a nadir when they were forced to scratch from this race because Ron Clark was delayed in the doping control room after his run in the 200m.

Africa needed to finish two places ahead of Europe in order to secure the Nelson Mandela trophy. They managed to do this, but not without drama.

The first leg saw the USA and America in front with Europe (Kénteris 47.28) in seventh. McIntosh's 44.54 put the Americas ahead at halfway before an identical split, by Arnaud Malherbe, brought Africa into contention. Meanwhile, Europe were battling for places 5-7 with Germany and Asia.

On the anchor, Olympic bronze medallist Davis Kamoga stormed into the lead for Africa and it looked as if that continent would win the race – and therefore the World Cup – by a clear margin.

However, the Ugandan faded in the finishing straight and slipped to fourth place. Meanwhile Jerome Young timed his finish much better than in the individual 400m and won the race for the USA.

Risking disqualification, Kamoga flung his baton away in disgust after the finish. In fact, he had still done enough for an overall African victory by one point over Europe. In the race, Asia beat Europe by one hundredth, but even if Europe had prevailed, team victory would still have gone to Africa as they had four event wins to Europe's three.

A decade after this race, Antonio Pettigrew was suspended by the IAAF after admitting to using human growth hormone and EPO dating back to 1997. He made the admissions during the trial of coach Trevor Graham, who was convicted of lying to agents investigating the BALCO affair. All of Pettigrew's performances from January 1, 1997 were cancelled, including this relay win and the second place in 2002. His earlier World Cup placings of 1989, 1992 and 1994 still stand.

Running in his fifth World Cup and racing for the final time, Pettigrew took over in the lead to run anchor for the USA but could not hold off Blackwood who was in the form of his life. The Jamaican edged ahead for the Americas at the line, having recording a split of 43.78. Only Alberto Juantorena's epic 43.7 from 1977 was faster in World Cup history.

As noted in the report of the 1998 4x400 (above), Pettigrew and his US squad were ultimately disqualified after he admitted to years of doping violations after 1997.

A great race to end the meeting though the World Men's Cup appeared certain to go to Europe as they needed only two points assuming the United States won. In the event Europe gained five points and the US did indeed win, but only just.

The composite teams from Africa and the Americas raced ahead in the first half, 20m up on the US squad, but then individual winner Merritt closed on the Americas as Africa's anchor Louala set off 4m ahead. America's anchorman Francique duelled with the Algerian while US anchor settled into third spot. In the straight Louala faded and the Grenadan led, but then Williamson came back to dip for victory. His split was actually 0.07 slower than Francique, but he had begun his leg 0.10 in front of the Grenadan before deciding to tuck in behind the leaders.

Drawn in lane 8, with Ashford in 7, Göhr (née Oelsner) got the better start but the American quickly caught the East German and ran away from her like no-one else had done for three years.

Rome 1981

Ashford completed the Rome sprint double, comfortably, in front of World Record holder Göhr. In fact, the East German did not even finish second. Runner-up was Smallwood, who had been a late replacement in the European team for Sweden's Linda Haglund. The Briton had the best start and hung on to set a new British record.

Marion Jones had enjoyed an unbeaten season in 1998 before Johannesburg, and won the 200m on the first day with a scintillating 21.62. That made her the second-fastest women ever – after Florence Griffith Joyner – and she repeated that feat in the 100m. The American had the slowest reaction time and the worst start, yet by 30m she was ahead and pulled clear to win by 3m. All eyes turned to the trackside clock which stopped at 10.66, later confirmed as a cup record of 10.65. “I knew this track was fast,” said Jones, “and I wanted to be part of it.”

In third place Mary Onyali ran her fastest race since the birth of her daughter in 1997. She brought her total of individual World Cup points to 33; only Marita Koch (46) and Evelyn Ashford (43) have scored more among women.

8,	Lauren Hewitt	OCE	AUS	11.48	0.162
	Marion Jones	USA		DQ (r40.8)	0.217 (10.90)

There were three false starts, the track was saturated and she was drawn in the unfamiliar inside lane, but Jones repeated her 1998 win in a fast 10.90. This and the sprint relay 85 minutes later were to be the extent of her 2002 World Cup as she left for home the following day. Lawrence, world #2 after Jones that year, was a clear runner-up. It was Jones's 59th win from 60 100m races since 1997.

Regrettably all these statistics became inaccurate and meaningless when – in October 2007 – Jones admitted to doping violations dating back to September 2000. All her performances then were annulled by the IOC and/or the IAAF. Worse, she was imprisoned for six months in 2008 for having lied to US Federal Agents investigating the Californian Bay Area Laboratory Co-Operative (Balco) steroid affair. Her World Cup performances from 1998 and 1999 world title were not affected.

As expected the 2006 world number one Simpson won easily, but there was a dramatic battle for second place. Gevaert (lane 6) held that position for most of the race, but she was veering left towards lane 5 where Edwards was also drifting right. The two accidentally clashed arms about 5m before the finish and a furious Gevaert lost momentum and two places because Anim also came past her on the other side.

Koch had enjoyed a brilliant season, breaking the world record twice at both 200m and 400m. In Montréal she produced another tremendous 200m – 22.02 from lane 1 – but was 2m down on the revelation of the meeting, Ashford.

The American, running in lane 8, took almost half a second from her American record to clock 21.83, second only to Koch's 21.71. With a 100m best of 10.97, she thus became the first woman in history to better both the 11 and 22 second barriers for the sprints.

9,	Emiko Konishi	ASI	JPN	24.82

Having clocked 21.84 into a headwind in Brussels one week earlier, many experts expected Ashford to threaten the world record of 21.71. However, she was handicapped by the inside lane. The draw emphasised the American's speed around the bend, and she entered the straight a metre in front of Kratochvílová and Wöckel. Ashford held this advantage to the finish to duplicate her 1979 win.

At 34, Merlene Ottey was in the form of her life after a quiet season. One week earlier she had set a personal best at 100m of 10.78 in the IAAF Grand Prix Final.

She made her World Cup début with a clear win in the fastest time ever in Britain. Without a headwind, and on a warmer evening, the Jamaican would surely have bettered 22 seconds.

Unquestionably the world's top woman athlete, Jones added to her credentials by racing to the third-fastest time in history, 21.62. Obviously the high altitude was an advantage, but otherwise conditions were unhelpful. It was cool (14°), there was a headwind and Jones was drawn in the unfamiliar ninth lane. After a cautious start (reaction time: 0.258), the American was slightly ahead of Pintusevich after 100m then stormed clear in the homestraight to win by more than 6m.

The Americas lost valuable points through the non-selection of Sherone Simpson (22.00 twice in 2006), so Richards was left to score a comfortable win. One lane outside the American Gevaert got the better start but after a few steps Richards was ahead and pulling clear with every stride. She did the 200m/400m double which had been achieved by Irena Szewinska (1977) and Marita Koch (1985), and was about as far ahead of the opposition than those two legends had been in their heyday.

West Germans apart, there was no more popular winner in Düsseldorf than Szewinska, who scored her last major triumph after a memorable duel with rising East German star Marita Koch.

It was Koch (lane 4) who set the pace, making up the stagger on Szewinska (lane 5) by 150m. The two women raced side by side around the final bend with Koch leading by 2m into the straight. The long-striding Pole slowly edged in front of Koch in the last 50m to win with the second-quickest time in history.

The one-lap event again proved to be a World Cup highlight with Kratochvílová becoming the first woman to beat Koch since the 1977 final. Koch, who had missed most of the season through injury, ran her best race of 1981 and was only a metre behind the heavily-built Czech woman at 300m (35.82). The two were almost even for several strides before Kratochvílová went clear with a 12.8 final 100m. She clocked 48.61, just 0.01 outside Koch's world record.

After competing with distinction in the previous World Cup 400s, Koch reserved her greatest performance for her final appearance in this meeting. The East German's runs in the Canberra 200m and 4x400m pointed to the possibility of something special, and this was confirmed when Koch (lane 2) sped through 200m in 22.4. At 300m (34.1), a brief glance around confirmed her lead of 10m, and Koch continued to stride strongly down the homestraight. She tightened in the last 5m but crossed the line 0.39 inside Jarmila Kratochvílová's world record. Vladykina (lane 1) ran tremendously herself to clock 48.27 and gain slightly on Koch at the finish. Kratochvílová herself finished fifth in her last major 400m. "It was a perfect race, if such a thing exists," said Koch. "I'm going to find if difficult to be motivated to prolong my career."

The great East German star did continue for one more full season before announcing her retirement at the beginning of 1987.

Quirot went out fast but tired in the finishing straight and was surprisingly passed by Pérec, who crossed the line in 50.30. Quirot just managed to hold off the brilliant GDR junior Breuer. This proved crucial when the Frenchwoman was disqualified for running inside her lane on the last bend. Already the winner at 4x400m and 800m, Quirot became only the second athlete (after Marita Koch in 1985) to win three events at a World Cup.

Marie-José Pérec was supposed to be running for Europe but withdrew with a hip injury. A replacement of the highest quality was found, Irina Privalova. She had won the 100m and placed second in the 200m already in London. Her only previous individual 400m was 49.89 in 1993.

The Russian took advantage of the inside draw by watching Miles and Yusuf set the pace. The American fell back in the homestraight, when Privalova and Yusuf (lane 6) were level until the Russian edged ahead to bring her total points score for the weekend to 23.

Ogunkoya had clearly been the world number one in 1998 and was an excellent second to Marion Jones at 200m two days earlier. She allowed Breuer – 2nd in 1989 – to set the pace before hitting the front at 250m and finishing strongly to win in 49.52. "I wanted to win badly because this is home for me," said Ogunkoya.

7, Olga Tereshkova	ASI	KAZ	52.57
8, Grazyna Prokopez	POL		53.29
9, Rosemary Hayward	OCE	AUS	54.01

This was the race which confirmed Richards as the world woman athlete of 2006. She had won all 12 of her 400m races in the year and there was little doubt that this would be the 13th, but how fast would she go? The race was of special interest to the crowd because the Olympic 400m hurdles Champion Halkiá chose to contest it rather than her speciality.

In accordance with the pre-determined lane draws, Richards was assigned lane seven, not one of the middle lanes which would have automatically been hers in circuit competitions. Perhaps the gentler curves were to her liking, because she ran her best ever race. She immediately made up the stagger on European Champion Stambolova who turned out to be her closest challenger. From the video of the race we can estimate that Richards passed 200m in 23.7 and 300m in 35.7, then continued to run strongly. Her reward: 48.70, the world's quickest in 10 years and a new American record.

The confrontation of the meeting saw Olympic Champion Wodars meet Grand Prix Champion Quirot, undefeated since 1987. The East German attempted to beat the Cuban with a searing pace. She went through 200m in 26.94, 400m in 55.07, and 600m in 84.48. Quirot would not be dropped and managed to pull away from Wodars and open up a gap of 10m. Her time was the third-fastest in history.

The Cuban uncharacteristically threw her arms up in delight of her win. She said: "I dedicate this victory to the chief commanding officer of the Cuban Revolution – Fidel Castro, the father of all of us – and to those who died for our country." The Asian, African and Oceanian representatives all set personal bests.

Miles-Clark made the pace (200m: 26.97, 400m: 57.74) before Mutola and Vriesde took over at 450m. Mutola duly won her third World Cup, holding off a late challenge from European Champion Afanasyeva, who went from 4th to second in the homestraight. After her win, Mutola reached over the trackside moat to collect Mozambique and South African flags from the crowd.

Körner's performance was an early indicator of how well the East German women had peaked for the meeting. The 25 year-old went to the front after a slow first kilometre and stayed ahead until European Cup winner Agletdinova took over with 300m remaining.

The East German kept in touch but when she moved to pass the Soviet runner in the homestraight, Agletdinova drifted into lane 2, blocking her. Körner did not give up and went on to win by half a metre.

Unlike most "Cup" middle distance races, this one was fast as well as competitive. Franey was responsible for the early pace, before Chalmers took over at halfway, passing 800m in 2:10.45. The Canadian maintained the tempo and managed to drop both O'Sullivan (European 3000m Champion) and Holmes (Commonwealth 1500m Champion) before the bell. Olympic Champion Boulmerka was still in touch.

The race had developed into a reprise of the previous weekend's IAAF Grand Prix Final, where Chalmers had tracked Boulmerka before sprinting past to win. In London, the Algerian turned the tables and broke the cup record in the process.

7,	Mandy Giblin	OCE	AUS	4:29.50
	Liu Jing	ASI	CHN	DNS

Disappointingly, only seven women started this race. Olympic Champion Masterkova made her trademark move at the start of the homestraight to comfortably overhaul Maranga, who had led from the start. It was Masterkova's 10th win from 11 races in 1998. The Russian's last 200m was covered in 27.7, with her last lap timed in 58.8.

8,	Sarah Jamieson	OCE	AUS	4:12.33
9,	Mardrea Hyman	AME	JAM	4:14.60

Ayhan had been a revelation in 2002, winning the European title from Gabriela Szabo in her first meeting of the year. She was known for her fast starts and Madrid was no exception. She raced through 400m in 60.53 and 800m in 2:05.92 by which time the rest of the field – headed by Jacobs – were jostling for second place more than 50m in arrears. Ayhan then eased off (or faded), so that her last 300m took 50.40 and her final time of 4:02.57 would have been in the range of her opponents had they not let the Turk go away in the first half.

Ethiopian-born Jamal was dominant, leading by 800m (2:11.04) then making a long run from home just before the bell. Russian team captain Tomashova, Jamieson and Yordanova battled for second spot but did not close on the leader who was 20m ahead on the last bend and completed the final lap in 58.89 to break the cup record.

The race came to life just before the bell when Santiago burst into the lead. The three big favourites moved ahead on the backstraight with Zadorozhnaya, Adere and Szabo sprinting clear. It was the Russian versus the Romanian down the homestraight with the Ethiopian close behind. Szabo got in front in the closing metres then raised her arms to celebrate victory, only for Adere to suddenly come up, dip, and steal the race by a margin of just one hundredth. The Ethiopian's final 200m was 27.6 compared with 28.3 by Szabo, with the final lap covered inside 61 seconds.

Just like the other Johannesburg women's distance races, the first-ever World Cup 5000m was won with by the woman with the fastest kick. The pace was slow (3000m: Adere 10:30.71) and into the last lap it was Jacobs from O'Sullivan. The American could not respond when the Irishwoman uncorked a 28.5 last 200m.

"It was a very slow race," said O'Sullivan. "I've never run that slowly ... at that sort of pace you don't get tired."

Chepkemei – better known from her exploits at half marathons – continued to lead before falling back in the final kilometre. At the bell (14:17.29) Pavey and was ahead of Martínez and the 2001 World Champion Yegorova. Has an athlete ever done so much more than necessary for victory at the World Cup than Defar in 2006? Not for her the sit-and-kick tactics of Yifter or Tulu, she led through the first lap in 67.26 and kept up a reasonable pace which gained an average of two seconds per lap on her opponents. So she ended with a record-breaking winning margin of 26.22 and even finished with a snappy 30.00 last 200m.

Former world record holder Bondarenko shared a reasonable pace (5000m: 16:04.9) with Cunha. The two were together until around 700m from the finish, when Bondarenko dramatically sprinted clear. When the Soviet runner then stopped just after the bell, it was clear she had miscounted the laps. Reduced to a jog in the last 400m, she was passed by Cunha and Knisely. Bondarenko's final lap took 1:43.

The Russian later announced her retirement from athletics, but she changed her mind. That was just as well, because she went on to win the inaugural Olympic 10,000m title in 1988.

Like her pole vaulting neighbour Okkert Brits, Elana Meyer came to the World Cup with something to prove after disappointment at the Commonwealth Games in Victoria in late August.

Drawn against a tough opponent in European Champion Fernanda Ribeiro, Meyer set a fast pace, 3000m in 9:15.78 and 5000m in 15:25.59 – a season's best. Only Ribeiro could stay in touch, and one felt that the Portuguese would outrun Meyer in the closing stages. Instead it was Meyer who pulled clear in the last kilometre and clocked the fourth-fastest time in history.

3000 Metres Steeplechase Athina 2006

(Sep 17)

1,	Alesia Turova	EUR	BLR	9:29.10
2,	Jeruto Kiptum	AFR	KEN	9:31.44
3,	Wioletta Janowska	POL		9:35.08

8,	Minori Hayakari	ASI	JPN	9:49.49
9,	Iríni Kokkinariou	GRE		10:35.78

Turova was the undoubted world number one in 2006 and easily responded when Kiptum made a break with 500m to go. She edged in front of the African before the bell and ran strongly down the back-straight though she misjudged the hurdle before the last water jump and almost fell. In the straight there were no problems and the Belorussian was looking around and waving to the crowd.

Turova had one more win in 2006 to complete an unbeaten season but curiously that proved to be her final ever victory as she apparently retired in 2008 after injury in 2007.

100 Metres Hurdles

Düsseldorf 1977

(Sep 3) (0.0)

1,	Grazyna Rabsztyn	EUR	POL	12.70
2,	Johanna Klier	GDR		12.86
3,	Lyubov Nikitenko	URS		12.87
4,	Esther Rot	ASI	ISR	13.26
5,	Patty Van Wolvelaere	USA		13.54
6,	Joanne McLeod	AME	CAN	14.00
7,	Modupe Oshikoya	AFR	NGR	14.02
8,	Glynis Nunn	OCE	AUS	14.75

Injury had hampered Rabsztyn at the 1976 Olympic Games, but she made some amends in the biggest race of 1977 by beating the Montréal winner Klier (née Schaller) with the world's fastest time of the year.

The Pole got to the first hurdle first and was never threatened. She was later voted "Miss World Cup 1977 – the most likable woman athlete of the first World Cup" by the media, and was awarded an expensive camera.

Montréal 1979

(Aug 25) (-0.1)

1,	Grazyna Rabsztyn	EUR	POL	12.67
2,	Tatyana Anisimova	URS		12.75
3,	Kerstin Claus	GDR		13.03
4,	Deby LaPlante	USA		13.23
5,	Sharon Lane	AME	CAN	13.63
6,	Penny Gillies	OCE	AUS	13.88
7,	Judi Bellgam	AFR	NGR	13.93
8,	Emi Akimoto	ASI	JPN	14.28

The World Cup again provided rehabilitation for Rabsztyn, who had fallen in the 1978 European final. She and Anisimova – drawn in adjacent lanes – got the best starts, then the Pole moved away in the second half of the race.

Rome 1981

(Sep 5) (0.1)

1,	Tatyana Anisimova	URS		12.85
2,	Kerstin Knabe	GDR		12.91
3,	Lucyna Langer	EUR	POL	12.97
4,	Stephanie Hightower	USA		13.09
5,	Penny Gillies	OCE	AUS	13.59

7,	Grisel Machado	AME	CUB	13.76
8,	Emi Akimoto	ASI	JPN	13.97
9,	Cécile Ngambi	AFR	CMR	14.16

Anisimova, 31, was the unquestioned world's best of 1981. She finished one better than 1979, as did Knabe (née Claus), who had the best start of all.

Canberra 1985

(Oct 5) (-1.8)

1,	Cornelia Oschkenat	GDR		12.72
2,	Ginka Zagorcheva	EUR	BUL	12.72
3,	Svetlana Gusarova	URS		13.01
4,	Liu Huajin	ASI	CHN	13.20
5,	Glynis Nunn	OCE	AUS	13.25
6,	Maria Usifo	AFR	NGR	13.34
7,	Pam Page	USA		13.49
8,	Cecilia Branch	AME	CAN	13.75

Oschkenat got the fastest start, but was joined at the front by Zagorcheva by halfway. The two raced level, and neither woman made a mistake.

At the finish, Zagorcheva appeared to have a tiny advantage. The Bulgarian thought she had won and threw up her arms just before the line. The gesture inevitably caused her to slow and cost her the race. Originally, the official result was a tie for first place. A protest by Europe resulted in Zagorcheva being named as the sole winner. Then, after the medal ceremony, a GDR protest was upheld and Oschkenat was given first place exclusively.

Barcelona 1989

(Sep 9) (-0.3)

1,	Cornelia Oschkenat	GDR		12.60
2,	Lyudmila Narozhilenko	URS		12.80

7,	María José Mardomingo	ESP		13.76
8,	Yasmina Azzizi	AFR	ALG	13.99
9,	Helen Pirovano	OCE	NZL	14.91

Tolbert was the quickest starter, but Oschkenat soon took control and became the only woman to win an individual event in both Canberra and Barcelona. Her time of 12.60 was a 1989 world best.

Havana 1992

(Sep 26) (-0.8)

1,	Aliuska López	AME	CUB	13.06	0.168

7,	Jayne Moyes	OCE	AUS	13.83	0.160
8,	Yelena Politika	EUN	UKR	13.89	0.134

López, the 1988 World Junior Champion, and sixth in the Olympic Games earlier in the summer, scored her biggest win so far as a senior.

London 1994

(Sep 10) (-0.9)

1,	Aliuska López	AME	CUB	12.91	0.193
2,	Svetla Dimitrova	EUR	BUL	12.95	0.235

6,	Luo Bin	ASI	CHN	13.89	0.199
7,	Sherlese Taylor	USA		14.10	0.251
8,	Rachel Links	OCE	AUS	14.14	0.211

The biggest upset of the meeting saw Aliuska López become the first woman to defeat Svetla Dimitrova since June. The Cuban, who also won in 1992, admitted after the race that she had been training all year for the meeting.

Johannesburg 1998

(Sep 12) (2.7)

1,	Glory Alozie	AFR	NGR	12.58w	0.167
2,	Angie Vaughan	USA		12.67	0.164

3,	Irina Korotyia	RUS		12.77	0.150

	Olga Shisigina	ASI	KAZ	DNF	0.155
	Nicole Ramalalanirina	EUR	FRA	DNF	0.140

Alozie was one of the most improved athletes of 1998, and she capped her season with a World Cup victory, her 15th win from 17 races that year. With both the Asian and European representatives falling over and failing to finish, the result had a dramatic effect on the team standings at the start of day two, moving Africa up from fifth to second place one point behind Russia.

Madrid 2002

(Sep 21) (-0.8)

1,	Gail Devers	USA		12.65	0.177
2,	Brigitte Foster	AME	JAM	12.82	0.144

8,	Jacquie Munro	OCE	AUS	13.46	0.129
9,	Yvonne Kanazawa	ASI	JPN	13.59	0.177

At 35, multi-World Champion Devers made her World Cup debut in great style, winning easily from strong-finishing Foster with 1998 winner Alozie – now competing for Spain – in third place.

8,	Toyin Augustus	AFR	NGR	13.27	0.193
9,	Feng Yun	ASI	CHN	13.32	0.163

The teenage McLellan was the fastest starter, then it was European Champion Kallur vying with Commonwealth Champion Foster before the Jamaican pulled clear over the last two hurdles to go one place better than in Madrid.

6,	Francine Gendron	AME	CAN	60.91
7,	Yumiko Aoi	ASI	JPN	61.02
8,	Fatima El Faquir	AFR	MAR	67.42

The first ever 400m hurdles at an IAAF event saw an upset, when world record holder Marina Makeyeva took the final hurdle badly and allowed Klepp to win by 2m.

Rome 1981

(Sep 4)

1,	Ellen Neumann	GDR		54.82
2,	Genowefa Blaszk	EUR	POL	56.20
3,	Anna Kastetskaya	URS		56.37
4,	Lynette Foreman	OCE	AUS	57.51

7,	Sandy Myers	USA		59.95
8,	Yumiko Aoi	ASI	JPN	61.72
9,	Celestine N'Drin	AFR	CIV	64.68

Neumann, the 1980 world silver medallist, was a very easy winner and clocked her third sub-55 second run of 1981. In seventh place came US Champion Sandy Myers, who as Sandra Myers would compete for Spain in the 1989 World Cup and win a world 400m flat bronze for Spain two years later.

Canberra 1985

(Oct 4)

1,	Sabine Busch	GDR		54.44
2,	Judi Brown-King	USA		55.10
3,	Debbie Flintoff	OCE	AUS	55.34
4,	Nawal El Moutawakel	AFR	MAR	56.05

6,	Margarita Khromova	URS		56.90
7,	Genowefa Blaszk	EUR	POL	57.50
8,	Gwen Wall	AME	CAN	58.13

The world record had been reduced to 53.56 by Busch a fortnight before the World Cup. Canberra represented the biggest test of what was the East German's first season at the event.

Despite a raw technique, she won comfortably from fast-finishing Brown-King.

Barcelona 1989

(Sep 8)

1,	Sandra Farmer-Patrick	USA		53.84
2,	Tatyana Ledovskaya	URS		54.68

7,	Liliana Chalá	AME	ECU	59.00
8,	Helen Graham	OCE	AUS	61.11
9,	Marie Womplou	AFR	CIV	62.03

Less than an hour after her husband won the men's event, Farmer-Patrick took control at the eighth hurdle to complete an undefeated season for her at the event.

Havana 1992

(Sep 25)

1,	Sandra Farmer-Patrick	USA		55.38
2,	Gowry Retchakan	EUR	GBR	55.66
3,	Margarita Ponomaryova	EUN	RUS	56.46
4,	Linda Kisabaka	GER		57.50

6,	Nezha Bidouane	AFR	MAR	58.30
7,	Leisa Bruce	OCE	AUS	60.07
	Rosey Edeh	AME	CAN	DNS

Farmer-Patrick retained her title, but was unexpectedly pressured in the homestraight by the strong-finishing Retchakan. In contrast, the former world record holder, Ponomaryova, faded at the end of the race.

London 1994

(Sep 9)

1,	Sally Gunnell	GBR		54.80
2,	Silvia Rieger	GER		56.14
3,	Anna Knoroz	EUR	RUS	56.63

6,	Natalya Torshina	ASI	KAZ	57.60
7,	Tonya Lee	USA		59.61
8,	Rebecca Campbell	OCE	AUS	60.96

The first track event of the 1994 World Cup final was greeted with deafening cheers because the host nation's representative was Sally Gunnell, then the world's leading woman track athlete and fresh from wins at both the European Championships and Commonwealth Games. She made mistakes at the seventh and eighth barriers but won by a huge margin.

Johannesburg 1998

(Sep 11)

1,	Nezha Bidouane	AFR	MAR	52.96
2,	Deon Hemmings	AME	JAM	53.03

6,	Anna Knoroz	RUS		56.09
7,	Li Rui	ASI	CHN	57.64
8,	Evette Cordy	OCE	AUS	58.00

Just as she had in the 1997 World Championships, Bidouane won the title on the run-in. It was Batten (season's best of 52.74) who started fastest. Running in lane 7, she held a slight lead at the 10th hurdle from Bidouane one lane outside, and Olympic Champion Hemmings in 6. Batten hit that hurdle, allowing the Moroccan and Jamaican to edge ahead in this closely-fought race. The winning time was a new African record.

Madrid 2002

(Sep 20)

1,	Yuliya Pechonkina	RUS	53.74
2,	Sandra Glover	USA	54.46
3,	Jana Pittman	OCE AUS	55.15
4,	Ionela Tîrlea	EUR ROU	56.17

7,	Heike Meissner	GER	57.40
8,	Zahra Lachgar	AFR MAR	59.14
9,	Beatriz Montero	ESP	59.79

This was the first race after the 45 minutes of torrential rain which fell at the start of the first day's programme in Madrid. Pechonkina (Née Nosova, the 2001 World silver medallist) had been mysteriously absent from the circuit since winning four out of four fast races in June.

In September she returned to carry on where she left off, quickly making up the stagger on Tîrlea, who had retained her European title in the Russian's absence. Glover closed slightly at the finish but Pechonkina won easily in a time only she had beaten in 2002.

Athína 2006

7,	Janet Wienand	AFR RSA	56.31
8,	Hristína Hantzi-Neag	GRE	56.35
9,	Lauren Boden	OCE AUS	58.22

We were told that Pechonkina had reverted to her maiden name of Nosova, but the story was the same as in 2002 because the Russian had missed all summer before making a startling return to clock 53.14 on her seasonal début on September 2. In Athens she ran with good judgment to keep in range the fast-starting Demus (lane 1) who clearly led into the straight but then flailed somewhat over the ninth. The Russian world record holder gained her winning advantage between hurdles nine and ten though the American fought back on the run-in.

The world's top woman athlete of 1977 was Ackermann, who set three world high jump records, culminating in the first ever 2.00 clearance at Berlin on August 26. Despite a fine field, she won easily with the second best height in history – 1.98.

Having had no failures until that height, she asked for the bar to be raised to 2.01. Her first attempt was poor, her second close, and she was distracted on her third by the entrance of the runners for the 4x400m relay.

The highlight of the weekend for the home crowd was the victory of Debbie Brill. Not only did she improve the Commonwealth record by two centimetres, she also beat two of the most famous names in the history of high jumping: Simeoni and Ackermann.

With the East German surprisingly going out at 1.90, and Serbina eliminated at 1.92, only Brill and Simeoni were left in at 1.94. Both cleared first time (a personal best equalled for Brill), with the Italian ahead on countback. Simeoni could go no higher, but Brill could, flopping cleanly over 1.96 on her last attempt.

"I never expected to win," said the 26 year-old Brill, whose previous major win had come in the Pan-American Games of 1971.

Nine years earlier, Meyfarth had sensationally won the Olympic title as a 16 year-old. After years in which she could not reproduce that form, 1981 saw her return to the highest level.

She won at the European Cup and did so again in the World Cup thanks to a perfect record up to and including 1.96. Bykova also made 1.96 the first time but had several earlier failures. Both women went out at 1.98, by which time heavy rain was falling.

Kostadinova completed a magnificent season with another win, but she cut it fine in a close struggle with World Champion Bykova. Had both failed at 2.00 a tie-break would have been necessary but the Bulgarian made it on her final try.

The win was Kostadinova's 25th consecutive win of 1985, the highlight of which had been a 2.06 effort in the European Cup.

Inspired by Ana Quirot's win in the 800m, Costa won with a perfect record at every height up to and including 2.00. Only with the bar at 2.04 did the Cuban fail, but she made it on her second attempt and claimed fourth place on the all-time list. She went on take three ambitious attempts at 2.10.

Both Dinescu and Storbeck had perfect records until 1.93, then the European Champion from Romania failed at 1.96. Storbeck went clear and looked set to win when Dinescu failed again. The Romanian opted to take her final attempt at 1.98, and cleared to put the onus back on the South African. Storbeck could not clear that height so settled for second place. Her 1.96 was an African record, but not a South African record as a superior height had been achieved during that country's period of suspension from the IAAF.

Unlike the Madrid men's high jump there was great depth here with 1.96 good enough only four fourth place. Four women tried 1.98, Bergqvist having passed 1.96 after one failure at that height. Waller was eliminated while Kuptsova, Bergqvist and Cloete all went clear with the Russian leading as she had no failures at any height. At 2.00 Cloete moved from third to first place with her first-time success. The others made it on their second so there was the rare occurrence of three women all higher than two metres in the same contest. At 2.02 Cloete had another first-timer – barely touching the bar – to strengthen her lead. The Swede made it on her second while the Russian passed her last try after two misses. No-one got near at 2.04.

The first-ever World Cup women's pole vault was interrupted for more than one hour by the torrential rain. It was a major shock when world leader (at 4.78) Feofanova went out failing twice at 4.50 and once at 4.55. Victory instead went to Becker who needed three at 4.50 but went over 4.55 the first time. The German was using borrowed poles as hers had not arrived from Rieti.

Isinbaeva won with an easy clearance at 4.60 when she must have had at least 15cm to spare at all stages of the jump. Unfortunately the contest featured several protests to officials by the jumpers including Isinbaeva for whom the "time left to jump" clock had been started before the bar had been put up for one of her attempts at 4.80. Two of Pyrek's run-ups were interrupted by a javelin thrower crossing the runway, while Stuczynski and Howe both no-heighted after complaining that the uprights were not placed at the requested depth.

At the Moscow European Cup, Chistyakova had surprisingly beaten Drechsler. The East German had gone on to improve the world record to 7.44, and was in a class of her own by the time of Canberra.

She had already set two cup records before her winning jump of 7.27 in the fourth round. In a high-class contest, Chistyakova and Lewis also set meeting records in the first round, in which Lorraway set a new Australian and Oceanian record.

Drechsler, now in unified German colours, carried on where she left off in 1985. Her first two leaps, each of 7.16, were far better than anyone else could manage.

Drechsler, who won the Olympic title, the overall IAAF Grand Prix award, and leapt 7.48 in 1992, was many people's choice as the world's woman athlete of the year. Havana was her 23rd meeting at 7m or better in 1992.

This was Jones's final outing of what had been a perfect year, with 36 wins from 36 contests across all events. There were hopes that she might get near to the world record of 7.52, but the icy (7°C) and wet conditions were unhelpful. Also, Jones faced the toughest of rivals – Heike Drechsler – who was looking for her third World Cup win in this event.

The German started well, spanning 7.07 in round one. Jones, using a very short run-up, fouled then cleared 7.00 in the second. That was as close as she would get, because her next four efforts were foul, 6.85, 6.99 and foul. Drechsler finished with another 7.07 then 7.03, and so became the first and only woman to defeat Jones in 1998. Guan in third provided Asia's women with their highest placing of the weekend.

One week earlier at the Grand Prix final Kotova had lost for the first time this season to Maggi. In Madrid the Russian gained revenge with a narrow win. The Brazilian opened with 6.81 to which Kotova responded with 6.78. Montaner was a good third at 6.68. Kotova edged closer with 6.80 in the second while Maggi fouled. In the third, Kotova finally took the lead with 6.85. Her win was greatly significant because it meant that Russia moved ahead of Europe in the team standings with just one event remaining.

7,	Nicole Mladenis	OCE	AUS	12.86	(1.5)
8,	Nkechi Madubuko	GER		12.76	(0.2)

The opening event of the Johannesburg World Cup saw Vashéki consolidate her recent European Championship gold with Greek records in rounds 3 (14.57) and 4 (14.64), the latter jump with plenty to spare on the take-off board. She led from start to finish, and every one of her five valid efforts were further than the best of runner-up Lebedeva.

9,	Michelle Apostolou	OCE	AUS	12.12	(0.6)

Due to the heavy rain there was a gap of an hour between the contest's second jump (Hansen 14.15) and its third (Schulte x). World silver medallist Mbango finally closed the round with 14.37 and that proved to be the winning effort, though Hansen got near with 14.32.

This was the first field event victory by an African woman at the World Cup.

8,	Aleksandra Fila	POL		13.34	(0.2)
9,	Linda Allen	OCE	AUS	12.95	(0.5)

The competition started strongly with efforts of 14.53 and 14.51 by Aldama and Lebedeva. Then to the delight of the crowd, Devetzi went much further with a meeting record of 15.04.

Lebedeva responded with a 15.13 (4.82/4.35/5.34) despite taking off 17cm before the edge of the board. The Greek responded with an even longer foul. Lebedeva followed that up with 14.98 but it was the Devetzi who finished best with a further 15m effort (15.02), featuring the massive hop phase of 5.51.

Fibingerová had improved the world record to 22.32 in August, but in Düsseldorf her best was 20.63. Slupianek overtook this in the final round.

The East German's victory was short-lived when, after the World Cup, it was confirmed that she had failed a doping control test at the European Cup at Helsinki in August. Her performances at both that event and the World Cup were annulled.

Hammer Throw

Madrid 2002

(Sep 21)

1,	Gu Yuan	ASI	CHN	70.75
2,	Yipsi Moreno	AME	CUB	69.65
3,	Olga Kuzenkova	RUS		66.98
4,	Anna Mahon	USA		65.94
5,	Kamila Skolimowska	EUR	POL	65.24
6,	Susanne Keil	GER		64.62
7,	Bronwyn Eagles	OCE	AUS	63.49
8,	Berta Castells	ESP		63.49
9,	Marwa Hussein	AFR	EGY	58.49

World Champion Moreno took control with 69.85 in the second, but she fouled her other three efforts whereas Gu improved in each round and held second spot with 68.74 before taking the last throw of the contest. The 20 year-old propelled her hammer to 70.75 to score a surprise victory. This was the first event of day two in Madrid, held in much better conditions than on the first evening.

Athína 2006

7,	Brooke Billett	OCE	AUS	65.92
8,	Alexándra Papayeoryiou	GRE		65.22
9,	Marwa Ahmed Hussein	AFR	EGY	60.23

Moreno started well with a cup record 73.99, but that mark was bettered by Lysenko (74.33) and the next two throws of Skolimowska, 74.53 and 75.29. World record holder Lysenko threw something in 75m range with her last attempt, but was timed out. This was to be the last big win by Skolimowska who had been the Olympic Champion in 2000 at age 17. Shockingly, she died suddenly of a pulmonary artery embolism while at a training camp in Portugal on February 19, 2009.

Javelin Throw

Düsseldorf 1977

(Sep 2)

1,	Ruth Fuchs	GDR		62.36
2,	Nadyezhda Yakubovich	URS		62.02
3,	Tessa Sanderson	EUR	GBR	60.30
4,	Kate Schmidt	USA		59.46
5,	Emiko Myokai	ASI	JPN	55.42
6,	Agnès Tchuinté	AFR	CMR	53.70
7,	Pam Matthews	OCE	AUS	51.14
8,	Marli dos Santos	AME	BRA	46.52

The crowd were stunned to see the great Ruth Fuchs, double Olympic Champion and world record holder, lying only fourth at the start of the fourth round with 58.74. She recovered in the final round to overtake Yakubovich.

"I failed totally in my first five throws," admitted Fuchs. "In the last round I won because I fought." Tchuinté, a junior, set a new African record in sixth place.

Montréal 1979

(Aug 24)

1,	Ruth Fuchs	GDR		66.10
2,	Eva Raduly-Zörgö	EUR	ROU	65.82
3,	María Colón	AME	CUB	63.50

4,	Kate Schmidt	USA		59.98
5,	Saida Gunba	URS		57.00
6,	Li Xia	ASI	CHN	52.50
7,	Pam Matthews	OCE	AUS	52.48
8,	Agnès Tchuinté	AFR	CMR	49.64

Fuchs had regained her world record in 1979 but was beaten by Raduly-Zörgö at the European Cup. In Montréal, she avenged that defeat, though the Romanian threatened to upset Fuchs again with her fifth throw of 65.82.

Rome 1981

(Sep 6)

1,	Antoaneta Todorova	EUR	BUL	70.08
2,	Petra Felke	GDR		66.60
3,	Karin Smith	USA		63.04
4,	Petra Rivers	OCE	AUS	61.54
5,	Mayra Vila	AME	CUB	59.00
6,	Leolita Blodniece	URS		57.06
7,	Tang Guoli	ASI	CHN	56.66
8,	Fausta Quintavalla	ITA		52.80
9,	Agnès Tchuinté	AFR	CMR	52.56

Todorova had caused a sensation at the European Cup when she smashed the world record with 71.88. She cemented her status at the world's number one with 70.08 in the fifth round – only the third 70m throw in history. The 23 year-old Petra Felke made a big breakthrough by throwing a personal best in second place. She was later named as “Miss World Cup.”

Canberra 1985

(Oct 4)

1,	Olga Gavrilova	URS		66.80
2,	Petra Felke	GDR		66.22
3,	Fatima Whitbread	EUR	GBR	65.12
4,	Sue Howland	OCE	AUS	63.58
5,	Agnès Tchuinté	AFR	CMR	57.86
6,	Zhu Hongyang	ASI	CHN	55.90
7,	María Colón	AME	CUB	54.00
8,	Cathy Sulinski	USA		53.78

The contest was decided when the unheralded Gavrilova – only 9th in the 1985 Soviet Championships – threw a personal best of 66.80 in the third round. She not only won but became the first thrower to defeat Felke in 26 meetings dating back to May 1984.

Barcelona 1989

(Sep 8)

1,	Petra Felke	GDR		70.32
2,	Zhang Li	ASI	CHN	61.50
3,	Laverne Eve	AME	BAH	60.32
4,	Brigitte Graune	EUR	FRG	59.76
5,	Natalya Yermolovich	URS		57.52
6,	Donna Mayhew	USA		55.38
7,	Kaye Nordstrom	OCE	NZL	53.26
8,	Chinweoke Chikwelu	AFR	NGR	49.08
9,	Natividad Vizcaíno	ESP		46.48

Felke had thrown a 1989 world best of 76.88 three days before the World Cup, but was unhappy with the bad weather in Barcelona. She nevertheless won easily, improving the cup record to 70.32 in the last round.

Havana 1992

(Sep 26)

1,	Tessa Sanderson	EUR	GBR	61.86
2,	Irina Kostyuchenkova	EUN	UKR	58.10
3,	Dulce García	AME	CUB	58.08
4,	Xu Demei	ASI	CHN	57.80
5,	Donna Mayhew	USA		57.30
6,	Steffi Nerius	GER		56.24
7,	Sue Howland	OCE	AUS	55.82
8,	Seraphine Nyauma	AFR	KEN	48.58

The 36 year-old Sanderson capped a fine season by winning with her opening throw of 61.86. Fifteen years earlier she had finished third with 60.30. Hers was one of only two wins for the European women's team in Havana.

London 1994

(Sep 9)

1,	Trine Hattestad	EUR	NOR	66.48
2,	Isel López	AME	CUB	61.40
3,	Karen Forkel	GER		61.26
4,	Louise McPaul	OCE	AUS	59.92
5,	Zhang Li	ASI	CHN	58.82
6,	Sharon Gibson	GBR		53.32
7,	Donna Mayhew	USA		51.50
8,	Ronah Dwinger	AFR	RSA	49.02

Hattestad, the world's number one, was a class apart with five throws better than anyone else. López and Forkel had a close battle for second place which the Cuban won in the sixth.

Johannesburg 1998

(Sep 11)

1,	Joanna Stone	OCE	AUS	69.85
2,	Sonia Bisset	AME	CUB	65.50
3,	Mikaela Ingberg	EUR	FIN	64.24
4,	Tatyana Shikolenko	RUS		63.77
5,	Tanja Damaske	GER		62.51
6,	Li Lei	ASI	CHN	59.45
7,	Windy Dean	USA		52.46
8,	Lindy Leveaux	AFR	SEY	43.18

Stone had competed only three times previously in 1998. With her right arm heavily strapped, she restricted herself to two throws in Johannesburg, but these were good enough for victory as the 1998 World list leader Damaske flopped to fifth place. Stone opened with 67.61 and then threw a massive 69.85 in the third. Clearly she had re-injured her arm with that effort, but her face lit up when Ingberg informed her how far it had flown. Oceania's only previous World Cup victory had come in the 1977 women's long jump.

Madrid 2002

(Sep 20)

1,	Osleidys Menéndez	AME	CUB	64.41
2,	Tatyana Shikolenko	RUS		60.11
3,	Mikaela Ingberg	EUR	FIN	60.08
4,	Steffi Nerius	GER		57.81
5,	Serene Ross	USA		56.91

7,	Marta Miguez	ESP		55.97
8,	Aïda Sellam	AFR	TUN	52.48
9,	Cecilia McIntosh	OCE	AUS	52.35

Menéndez took a commanding lead with her opener, a cup record of 64.41. Both of her other valid throws (62.91 & 62.49) would have been enough to win. Biomechanical analysis showed that the fastest throw was the last-round 54.50 of Ma Ning, which was timed at 0.46 seconds to the point of release. The duration of the winning throw was 0.65.

Athína 2006

7,	Lada Chernova	RUS		58.29
8,	Kim Kreiner	USA		54.34
9,	Ma Ning	ASI	CHN	52.54

After Franka Dietzsch in the discus and Ralf Bartels in the shot, Europe/Germany scored a third throws win on the opening day in Athens through Nerius, who first competed at the World Cup as a 20 year-old in 1992. The 2002 runner-up Bisset led after the first round with 61.22. She improved to 61.74, but by then the German – in European strip but with an armband bearing the colours of her national flag – had progressed from her 57.94 opener to 63.37.

To the pleasure of the crowd, a team of two West Germans and two Britons held off the GDR with a time which was only 0.01 slower than the existing world record. The Europeans gained ground with their changeovers – particularly the one between Lynch and Richter. The quartette had been trained by the West German national sprint coach, Wolfgang Thiele.

The GDR women finally won a World Cup sprint relay, setting a 1981 world best time in the process. Europe (an all-British team), winners in 1977 and 1979, came to grief at the last changeover when Shirley Thomas went off too soon. Fifteen years had passed since the last world record to be set in Australia, but October 6, 1985 saw two within the space of 80 minutes, all by East Germany's women sprinters (see 400m for details of Marita Koch's record). Many observers attributed this record to the phenomenal start of Gladisch, who made up two staggers. The final changeover, between Auerswald and Göhr, went close to the edge of the zone.

It was the eighth successive world sprint relay run to be anchored by Göhr.

Europe led the United States 92 to 88 with just this event remaining. Europe had more earlier victories, so the US needed to beat Europe by five places to claim the Nelson Mandela Trophy. Germany started well but messed up their final exchange leaving US Captain Guidry to win by a big margin in 42.00, a 1998 world best. The French/Bulgarian team for Europe placed only seventh, so after finishing last in London 1994, the United States women took the trophy in 1998. The US quartette tossed their spikes and bib numbers into the crowd as part of their victory celebrations.

The Americas (lane 3) got off to a wonderful start through Lawrence, who made up the stagger on the team outside well before the first exchange. The starry US team (lane 8) also went well and it was hard to tell who was leading as the teams were so far apart. At the final changeover, the US were in front but then Devers was run down by Ferguson. Three Jamaicans preceded the Bahamian in the winning team which clocked the world's fastest time of 2002.

Five years later, the US second place was annulled after Marion Jones admitted to years of doping violations starting in 2000 (see report of the 2002 women's 100m for details).

United States	DQ (r170.14) (43.04)

Russia led at the final exchange and for some time after, then Grigoryeva was run down from lane one by an ecstatic Simpson. This was a significant result as it meant the Americas went into the lead after day one on countback from Russia, both on 65 points.

Europe had been leading the standings but their all-British team gained only two points from the race. It looked as if both they and the US had disastrous first changeovers, but the replay revealed that their second leg runners had lined up in the wrong lanes. The teams had started in lanes 3 (USA) and 4 (Europe). Their respective second leg runners were waiting in lanes 4 (Durst) and 3 (Ania). Both teams managed to change batons and continue the race in the correct lanes, with the US placing third in 43.04. However, they were disqualified for exchanging outside the take-over zone. The European team were not disqualified having been seriously obstructed by the US team when their improvised changeover took place.

An appeal was submitted claiming that the second leg runners had been placed in the wrong lanes by officials, but video of the build-up showed that they had been led out on to the track in the correct order. It was also felt by the jury that a re-run would not be fair given the quality of the performances in the race. The winning time was a 2006 world best and Russia's 42.36 was the quickest by any national team all year.

The USSR handed the GDR a rare defeat in the 1985 European Cup, but they were 10m behind at halfway in Canberra.

Pinigina (née Kulchunova) closed the gap on the third leg, and a better changeover by the Soviets allowed Vladykina to cut in front of Koch at the start of the final leg. The Soviet stayed ahead for 300m, before Koch sped away to win by 8m. The East German thus achieved the unique feat of scoring four consecutive World Cup victories at this event.

A thrilling race which gave the rainsoaked home crowd much to cheer. Britain led for the first two stages before Germany and the Americas surged ahead at the last changeover. Sally Gunnell was content to follow Anja Rücker and Julia Duporty, and was not ruffled when the Cuban accelerated on the final bend. With 100m to go, Duporty was 3m ahead of Rücker, with Gunnell a further 3m in arrears. The Cuban faded and Rücker took over, only to be passed in turn by Gunnell who therefore scored her second World Cup win in the space of 105 minutes.

The 1997 world silver medallist Richards stayed in front for all but the last 10m of the race, but she was up against European Champion Breuer, a renowned relay runner. The German came through to win with a split of 49.26 compared with Richards's 49.81.

Collins (lane 9) ran a surprisingly quick 50.0 opener to put the United States into a clear lead, but this was closed by the Americas thanks to 50-point splits by Pernía and Amertil. Olympic relay gold medallist Hennagan was level with individual winner Ana Guevara and the start of the anchor stage. The Mexican sped away to victory and a 49.69 split.

The important confrontation in this race was that between Russia and Europe, who were top of the pre-race team rankings respectively with 119 points/four wins and 118 points/one win. Europe therefore needed to finish two places ahead of their rivals to clinch the cup, but could place only fifth on the night to Russia's third.

Three years later, the USA's second place was annulled when Michelle Collins was charged with a doping violation. As a result, the US team dropped from fourth to fifth in the final team standings.

Sanya Richards did not quite emulate Marita Koch's triple win from 1985 because she opted out of the relay. She was needed by her team as the Bahamas-Jamaica combination for the Americas produced a time which also harked back to the GDR era.

The US led slightly after the first leg from the Americas, then Olympic Champion Darling put her team in front, a position held by Amertil who opened up a significant gap over Robinson while Russia closed in. Demus, substituting for Richards, ran a wonderful anchor in 49.38 to get within striking distance of Williams, but the Jamaican held firm to complete the world's first sub-3:20 in two years.

EUROPEAN CUP FINAL & EUROPEAN TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS

In past IAAF World Cup years, the first two teams in the European Cup Final have been invited to compete at the World Cup. These are shown in bold below. In 2002 Great Britain originally placed first with 111 points and therefore qualified for that year's World Cup. In 2005, British athlete Dwain Chambers confessed to a doping violation at the time of the 2002 European Cup, so his results there (wins at 100m and 4x100m relay) were annulled, giving Britain a rightful score of 95 points for fourth place. From 2009 The European Cup was replaced by the European Team Championships involving 12 teams with races in lanes staged in two sections ("a" and "b" as shown below, with the best seeded participants in the "a" race).

WORLD AND CONTINENTAL RECORDS

In World Cup events as at August 1, 2010

ABBREVIATIONS & KEY (See also page 7)

IAAF = IAAF World Record; IAAF-J = IAAF World Junior Record; W = Unratified World Best; WJ = Unratified World Junior Best; WY = Unratified World Youth (under-18) Best; W35 = World (Masters) over-35 best; W40 = World Masters best; AFR = Africa; ASI = Asia; C = Commonwealth; CAC = Central America & Caribbean (included the countries with borders to Caribbean though not the USA); EUR = Europe; NAM = North America; OCE = Oceania; SAM = South America

NOTES

A = made at altitude of 1000m or higher; a = aided road course according to IAAF rule 260.28 (separation between start and finish points more than 50% of race distance or the decrease in elevation greater than one in a thousand); est = estimate;

h = hand timing; ! = timing by photo-electric cell; * = awaiting ratification but otherwise valid;

= not officially ratified outdoors (some ratified indoor marks have this symbol); X = unratified due to no doping control

Where relevant, the pace is given for world record performances. Where known, the time given is that of the runner who set the record, rather than the pacemaker

From 2000, IAAF Rule 260.18a (formerly 260.6.a) was revised to allow world records to be set at a facility with or without a roof (i.e. indoors or outdoors); Accordingly, indoor marks superior to outdoor records and set since 2000 are listed on these pages in addition to outdoor bests

AREA TOP 10 LISTS

In World Cup events as at August 1, 2010

The symbol # denotes performances by athletes from ex-USSR republics in Asia, prior to independence and affiliation to Asian Federation. Additional Asian marks are given when displaced from the top 10 by these performances. Some of these marks may also appear on European lists. Athletes from ex-USSR republics who have now opted for European nations – such as Sergey Usov and Rodion Gataullin (ex-UZB) are excluded from all but European lists. Separate lists have been given for North America (USA & Canada) and Central America & Caribbean. Hand times have been excluded from lists for 100m, 200m and 110m hurdles, but included for 400m and 400m hurdles, at a differential placing of 0.14 seconds.

INDEX OF WORLD CUP COMPETITORS

This section lists – in team order – every competitor in the IAAF World Cup in Athletics (1522 men, 1211 women). The athlete's team, country, name, birthdate, height and weight are given along with their performances. Two cross-referenced entries are given for those athletes who have competed for more than one team in the World Cup (e.g. Europe and Great Britain). Three sets of point scores are given. In the rightmost column are the total number of points scored by the team (A). Next to the name are the total numbers of points per athlete (B), while the leftmost column (C) shows the score for each individual performance. Relay scores are divided by four. The scoring systems used at the IAAF World Cup have been: 1977 – 9-7-6-5-4-3-2-1; 1979/1985/1992/1994/1998/2002 (women)/2006 – 8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1; 1981/1989 – 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1. In 2002 the scoring system for men was 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2. That was because of the Dwain Chambers affair (see page 20), after which the IAAF decided that all the Britain's men's points were to be removed. Their individual placings remained valid but scored no points, and those finishing behind British athletes gained an extra point, so just eight teams scored. The non-scoring British performances are shown in italics in this index. The highest points scorers by team are shown in bold.
